STOCK HOUSES COMBINE FOR MUTUAL BENEFIT

Percy G. Williams Heads New York Corporation, and W. W. Wittig
Fathers Western Enterprise.

Albany, N. Y., March 22.

A theatrical association which may have a wide influence upon amusement enterprises in the United States, has been incorporated in the office of the secretary of state and is known as the "Stock Producing Managers' Association." The objects set forth in the articles of incorporation present the facts that the organization is to promote social intercourse and to further business interests for the general welfare of those affiliated with the enterprise.

The directors are Percy G. Williams, 140 West 69th street, New York city; Charles Emerson Cook, 385 Central Park West; Sherman Brown, Milwaukee; Thomas D. Long, Denver; Charles Lovenberg, Providence, R. I.; Newton E. Hoffman, Cleveland, and John Craig, 1951 Beacon street, Brookline, Mass.

The association will hold yearly meetings in March, and the territory to be affected by its operations includes the entire United States. The principal office is in New York city.—CARDOZE.

New York, March 24.

The Stock Producing Managers' Association, recently incorporated with Percy G. Williams as president, has opened offices in the new Long Acre building in Long Acre Square, and will be ready for business on Thursday.

The object of the association is to secure attractions independently of the various booking concerns. Will H. Gregory is to be the general secretary in charge of the New York headquarters.—WALTER.

The Western Combination.

An organization of stock theater managers was effected last Thursday night at a meeting held at the Stratford hotel in this city, which was attended by some of the leading stock theater managers of the middle west.

The entire scheme is credited to W. W. Wittig of the Lyric at Minneapolis, who is said to have conceived the idea of organization and conducted a strenuous campaign to bring the managers together.

One of the most enthusiastic members is Edwin Thanhouser of the Bush Temple, who was elected temporary secretary, while Wittig was made temporary president.

A permanent organization will be effected at a meeting to be held here April 22.

As was exclusively announced in these columns last week, the idea of the organization is to better conditions, generally, in the stock field. It is proposed to establish a central bureau to handle manuscripts, and probably costumes and printing.

The association will be incorporated under the laws of Illinois.

MACK WRITES PLAY FOR JAMES J. CORBETT.

Salt Lake City, March 22.

Willard Mack, the popular stock actor, has received from H. H. Frazee, manager of James J. Corbett, notification of acceptance of a new play Mr. Mack has written for him. It will be known as "Barley of Harvard," and Mr. Mack will stage the play in Chicago in August. These men have been intimate friends for a number of years, and Mr. Mack thinks he has learned in his close association with Corbett just about what is best fitted to display the latter's histrionic ability to advantage. A former play by the same author called "Sagebrush" will be staged this season at the Bungalow.

Keith Exchange at Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., March 23.

The United Booking Offices of America, the organization that routes a large percentage of vaudeville acts, has established a sub-agency here under the title of "The Keith Vaudeville Exchange."

Offices of the new agency have been opened in Keith's Hippodrome under the supervision of Manager Daniels. The chief work of the new venture will be to furnish professional entertainment for lodge and other society entertainments in Cleveland and vicinity.—YOUNG.

Paderewski Cancels Tour.

Minneapolis, Marhe 22.

Paderewski was suddenly stricken with rheumatism in his right hand a few hours before his concert here at the Auditorium Friday, but by an effort managed to play his program through. Immediately after the concert he left on his private car Pilgrim for New York to place himself in the care of a specialist, canceling three western engagements.—BARNES.

SULLIVAN & CONSIDINE GET MORE THEATERS

To Provide Vaudeville for United Amusement Company Which Acquires
Thirty Stair and Havlin Houses.

The United Amusement Company, organized recently at Toledo is to take over a number of the Stair and Havlin theaters and will offer vaudeville and pictures. The vaudeville will be provided by Sullivan and Considine.

The arrangement by which Sullivan and Considine secure the bookings of this important chain of theaters was effected by Paul Goudron and is a great feather in his cap, as the number of theaters will be thirty, according to present reckonings.

The theaters will include Heuck's in Cincinnati, The Avenue in Louisville, possibly Havlin's in St. Louis and other well known houses.

Paul Goudron left Chicago last Friday. In a week he consummated this deal, another of almost equal importance, besides securing the bookings of a number of parks.

The second deal is one by which Sullivan and Considine secure the bookings of a chain of opera houses in Ohio, Indiana and Michigan, which are to be devoted to vaudeville after April 1. The organization effected is known as the Tri-State Vaudeville Association and the managers who are members will offer two shows each day in their houses. Albert C. Pegg, of Flint, who has made a notable success with vaudeville at the Stone opera house, is prominent in the new organization.

This has been a busy week at the S. & C. offices. The bookings of the Majestic in South Bend Ind., the Lillian theater in Detroit, Minn., Springbrook park in South Bend and Minerva park in Peru, Ill., have been arranged also since the week began.

Press Performance.

A press performance of the Barnum & Bailey circus will be given at the Coliseum in Chicago next Wednesday afternoon.

John Considine Coming.

John Considine, general manager of the Sullivan and Considine circuit, will be in Chicago next Monday.

Ends the Season.—The Cowhoy and the Squaw will close Saturday night at the Alhambra.

Buys Out Wright Huntington.—Jack Nicholson has purchased Wright Huntington's interest in Our Own stock company with headquarters at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Hickman-Bessey Here.—Guy Hickman and Jack Bessey are in the city. Hickman will take a repertoire show south and Bessey will have stock companies at Davenport, Iowa, and Rock Island, Ill.

Last Week of Melodrama.—This is the last week of melodrama at the Criterion. On Sunday night Harry Carey's Montana plays a benefit for Ben Giroux and George W. Irish, two performances, and next week the work of remodeling the theater will commence.

Herbert Ingraham at Saranac Lake.—Herbert Ingraham is at Saranac Lake, N. J., where he is waging a battle with consumption. He is the author of "Because I'm Married Now," and "They Say He Went to College," and a new song which is featured by Emma Carus at the American Music Hall this week. He is well known in Chicago and his friends hope he will be completely restored to health.

The Franklin stock company began an extended engagement at the Grand opera house in Wheeling, W. Va., this week.

The Cat and The Fiddle will end the season April 4 at Joliet, Ill. The show opens again early in August, according to W. E. Raynor, the business manager.

The members of the old stock company who were retained by Manager Rlee of the Majestic at Fort Wayne, Ind., are: Frank Jones, John T. Nicholson, H. F. Brickert, Harry Hayden, Louise Dunbar, Helen Gillingwater and Flora Dorset. The new members of the company are: John Preston, who will be stage director, William Knorr and Lydia Dickson.

AUGUSTA GLOSE

The Louisville Times of March 15, 1909, says of Miss Glose's work: "In the best sense of that often misapplied word, Miss Augusta Glose at the Mary Anderson theater this week, is charming. Her expressive face and piquant manners and all she does and says with a charming naturalness, comes, as it were, steeped in a personality so charged with distinction that it arrests the attention of the most miscellaneous audience. Aside from this there is something else as well—some indescribable individuality and this, combined with her beauty, together with something strangely elusive about her personality, makes her captivating to any audience. This is amply demonstrated when one hears the half-breathed wave of admiration which runs through the house when this pretty little artist makes her entrance.—Alice Willson."

AL. WALTZ OPPOSES ROLLER RINK RACING.

Professional Skater Believes That Speed Events Do Great Harm—Advocates Attractions.

Prof. Albert C. Waltz rested in Chicago for two days this week, before continuing to Milwaukee, where he is booked at the Riverview rink. Prof. Waltz has made an enviable record for himself in the skating world, having played 475 rinks in five years and played return dates at 175 of this number.

In speaking of the present trend of skating affairs, he said: "The chief fault to be found with most rink managers is that they insist upon running races in their rinks instead of playing good attractions. Races raise dust, which is objectionable to a steady rink patronage and is doing much to kill the rink game. I can point out to you rinks that have been running to profitable business for many years which have never had a race, but which insist upon good attractions, and this is undoubtedly the secret of their success. Take Peak's Island rink, for example. It plays good attractions. It has not had a race in fourteen years. The Atlantic City rink has been running for five straight years without races. A rink at Rochester, N. Y., has been playing to good patronage for the past ten or twelve years and has never had a race. There is a rink in Syracuse, N. Y., that has been running for the past ten years without a race. All of these rinks wisely eschew races and prefer good attractions and steady patronage. And I firmly believe that indoor racing has done more to kill the roller rinks of this country than any other combination of conditions.

"Mr. Price, manager of the Hot Springs rink, never has races, carnivals, nor other alleged drawing cards. He plays straight attractions and wants the best. During my engagement at his rink recently, two thousand persons attended the rink nightly.

"You will find that the great majority of the wise managers—men who desire the rinks to become permanent institutions—are booking attractions and letting the little fly by night fellow gobble up his day's earnings and get out."

PERSONAL MENTIONS FROM OGDEN, UTAH.

Ogden, Utah, March 22.

S. H. Bradbury, proprietor of the Rex theater at Provo, has sold out his interests in that city and has purchased George H. Wilson's interest in the Isis moving picture house. The new firm has installed a ladies' retiring room, the first in the city, which will be much appreciated.

Fred Littlefield, an expert trap drummer, has been engaged at the Globe. His fine kettle drums and orchestra bells add much to the program.

Sam Higgenbotham has abandoned the Odeon, on 24th street. The house has not been a paying proposition for some time. W. Fred Bossner has resigned as local representative of the Salt Lake Herald and has opened a picture house in Boise, Idaho, cleverly named "The Boz."

George Tubbs, after a vain effort to bolster up the business of the Electric, closed down March 14. Cutting the price to five cents did not turn the trick as expected.

Manager Normandy of the Globe entertained the Woodmen of the World from Logan last week; also the children from the deaf and blind school. The Isis gladdened the hearts of 300 "old folks" week of March 14, with a complimentary entertainment.

Fred Tout, formerly of the Dreamland theater, returned from his Colorado trip this week, having been unable to secure a location for a picture house. He will purchase a saloon in Brigham City shortly and embark in that business.

Harry Simms has installed the illustrated lecture feature at his new Orpheum theater. Miss Ballenger will continue as vocalist.

The Frederick Moore stock company at the Utahna played to capacity houses last week in "To Save Her Honor." Mr. Moore has substituted the distribution of prizes, temporarily, for bill-board advertising, and is apparently making good with it.

Lorene Farley and Al Grosh have been engaged for the Dreamland vocal work. Miss Farley is well known locally, while Mr. Grosh hails from California.—HADLEY.

Fortune Hunter Produced.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 18.

The Fortune Hunter, a new comedy by Winchell Smith, with Thomas W. Ross in the title role, had its premiere at Nixon's Apollo theater March 15th. It scored a big hit with local and visiting theatergoers. The play was produced under the direction of Messrs. Cohan & Harris. Among the prominent theatrical folks who witnessed the first performance were Mr. and Mrs. George M. Cohan, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel K. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Walters, nee Charlotte Walker; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Selwyn, Mrs. Leslie Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Selwyn, Mrs. Kingsley, Renald Wolf, S. F. Nixon, J. M. Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fuller Golden, Ben Harris.—GOODMAN.

Odette Valery will give some startling dances at the Fifth Avenue theater in New York next month. A portrait of her is attracting much attention in the theater lobby.

ERLANGER INSISTS IT IS A GOOD SEASON

Excerpts From Interviews Given at Various Places by Various People.

Lew Fields: "My next production will be a departure, though I don't mean to imply that I am going to attempt a drama. My next piece will have a very sensible, plausible story, and the songs will be a part of the story, not an interpolation. Theater-goers want to laugh, but there must be reason for the fun."

A. L. Erlanger (in a London interview): "We have had a big season in America and I believe the theatrical interests generally weathered the panic last year better than any other branch of business. The years of compact organization which began with the formation of our syndicate in 1896 had evidently equipped managers to weather a little financial storm and we had fewer failures in proportion than in any other line of investment."

William A. Brady: "The modern actor doesn't want to play Shakespeare, no matter how much you are willing to pay him. It is impossible to get an ideal cast for a Shakespearean play. Some time ago I offered an actor $250 a week to play Polonius. 'What do I want to play that d—d rot for?' he asked. 'What can I get out of it?' The other day I asked McKee Rankin to play Polonius, and he nearly dropped dead."

Eva Tanguay: "I licked a girl. Nobody had ever heard of Eva Tanguay up to that time. That was about ten years ago. The moment I got out in front the chorus girls would spoil my chance of making good by attracting the attention of the audience. I stood things as long as I could, and then I grabbed Jessie Jordan and choked her until her tongue hung out as far as that. She was unconscious for three hours. I at once gained a reputation as an awful fiend. Everybody said, 'Don't go near her; she's crazy.' The papers were full of me, my part was rewritten, my salary went up, and the place was jammed every night. I was a great success, just because I had given a chorus girl what she deserved."

Tyrone Power: "I am so convinced that play-goers are hungry for Shakespeare that I am now capitalizing my company to start out with a classical repertoire. The stage is a noble thing, and the actor should be an ennobling influence. He should gather about him the noblest minds of the day. That is what I want to do. That is what is stamping the New theater in New York with such a crown of glory to the art of America. I am not now indulging in mere talk. I think the scent for the finer and higher things in dramatic literature and in acting is in the air. I am going to run my own drug store and find out, and it won't all be a run on the gas in the soda fountain, either."

ANOTHER DAZEY PLAY PRODUCED IN PITTSBURG.

A Son of the South Given Its Premier at the Duquesne Theater by James K. Hackett and Company.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 25.

James K. Hackett produced his new play by T. C. Dazey, A Son of the South, at the Duquesne theater tonight, its first production on any stage. The play reflects conditions in the South as they are today, the dramatic contest between the new ideas and the old. The hot-headed, impulsive, arrogant young fellow who believes in the "old regime" is pitted against a Southerner of another type who learned in the hard school of experience the value of broader and more democratic views. That both of these men should love the same charming Southern girl, and that the hero should have to come to the South to free his father's name from an unjust accusation of murder, gives a strong dramatic background to the play. That these two men should come together in deadly strife is inevitable.

Pittsburg witnessed the first regular production of another play by the same author, which has since proven one of the most enduring successes known on the American stage. In Old Kentucky was brought out by Jacob Litt in the month of August, 1893, at the Bijou theater in Pittsburg. Its success was immediate and unquestioned. Although the heat was great and a serious panic was in progress, attended by industrial strikes and other disturbances, In Old Kentucky played to very large receipts during its first week. Soon after it went to the Academy of Music, New York, where it had a long run. From that day to this, both in this country and in England, it has been constantly popular, and still ranks as one of the leading attractions of its class.

Act Worked One Show.

Minneapolis, March 20.

On account of a disagreement regarding scenery the Haywards-Pistel company, presenting Harry P. Hayward's comedy act The King of Blackwell's Island, booked for the Princess last week, did not go on after the first performance Monday, being replaced by another number.—BARNES.

ARE YOU MARRIED OR IS IT AFFINITIES?

Item Going the Rounds of the Press Is Calculated to Cause Gossip Concerning the Relations of Chandler and Miss Larue.

Byron D. Chandler and Grace Larue, who disgusted the respectable patrons of well known restaurants during the stay of Nearly a Hero in Chicago, came into disgrace again at Boston last week when this report went the rounds of the press:

Byron D. Chandler of Boston, Manchester, N. H., and New York, and Grace Larue, the actress, are registered at a hotel in Auburndale as "D. Chandler and wife." Chandler refuses to say whether or not they are married. They reached Auburndale several days ago and Chandler says they expect to remain several weeks. They came from Chicago, where, some time ago, it was reported they were married. Miss Larue was with Chandler at Buffalo when divorce papers were served on him by his wife.

Friends of Chandler and Miss Larue must be surprised at their actions. If they are married they could easily end the gossip by saying so. If they are not married, or if he is in no position to marry, common decency would suggest that they no longer flaunt their wickedness in the faces of respectable people.

The affinity game has been overworked in the case of Byron D. Chandler and Grace Larue.

It will be recalled that THE SHOW WORLD printed an account of the marriage of this couple during the run of Nearly a Hero at the Garrick. Since that time it has been intimated that there has been no ceremony performed.

Awaiting News of Morris.

San Francisco, March 20.

Many real estate men are looking anxiously for the return here of William Morris, the independent vaudeville agent. When he was here a few weeks ago he stated that he was about to establish an independent house here, together with a number along the Pacific Coast and between here and Chicago. No site has so far been selected for the proposed independent house and some definite news is anxiously awaited.—MALLABAR.

FILM MANUFACTURE IN ITS INFANCY

Ingvald C. Oes, New York Representative of the Great Northern Co., Sees Great Future for Industry.

New York, March 2.

"Cinematography is here to stay," said Ingvald C. Oes, the New York representative of the Great Northern Film company of Copenhagen, when asked as to whether he believed that after the present film fight had arrived at a peaceful settlement there would still be a public interest in the subject of moving pictures. "The mere fact that the subjects themselves can never be exhausted in that they not depend upon fixed quantities of future, is sufficient, I think, to spell longevity to the film industry."

"Nor are the wonderful possibilities of invention anywhere near their ultimate. The years to come will develop many new fields of exploitation for pictures as well as many new inventions in the manner of their manufacture and projection. I do believe that we have by any means reached the highest point of perfection. I believe that future generations will look back upon the work we are doing now as the crudest sort of an experiment. Meanwhile, my company, at least, is using every possible advantage to obtain the highest degree of perfection known in modern times, and it is to this that I concede the great measure of success we have achieved."

MRS. LEON WACHSNER WILL ASSUME CONTROL

German Drama Will be Continued at Milwaukee and at the Powers in Chicago on Sunday Nights.

German drama will be continued not only in Milwaukee but in Chicago as well. Any uneasiness on this score was set to rest by a recent announcement that Mrs. Leon Wachsnor will personally assume the management of the Powers theater at Milwaukee and that the policies of her husband will prevail.

Just before his death Mr. Wachsnor renewed his lease of the Powers theater in this city and now Mrs. Wachsnor states that the German plays will be presented here each Sunday night as in the past.

R. W. Vizay will be the personal representative of Mrs. Wachsnor. Both the theater and the German stock company at Milwaukee will be under her supervision.

The New Theater for Albany.

Albany, N. Y., March 24.

The new Clinton theater, which is to be erected in the spring in this city, is to be a model building in every respect. It is to consist of reinforced concrete, stone and steel beams. The first and second balconies will be built on the cantilever principle, which will mean that the posts will be obviated. The entrance to the theater will be of ivory-tinged enameled terra cotta with color effects in harmony with the body color. There will be a copper and glass canopy over the entrance and drops of art glass behind. The windows in the center of the front elevation will also be of art glass; at either side of the front of the theater there will be two large flaming arcs and a great electric sign.

Manager Jacobs has arranged for exits. There will be seven leading from the parquet, six from the balcony and one from the second balcony. The capacity of the theater will be 700 for the lower floor, 550 for the first balcony and 550 for the second balcony. The general decorative will be of the L'art Nouveau character of design. The stage will be equipped with the largest New York attraction.—CARDOZE.

There are 17 members of the company, and the opening bill was A Gilded Fool. It opened at Springfield last Sunday night. The company will play Springfield, Danville, Decatur, Bloomington, Urbana and Lincoln.

Charles Emerson Cook, for many years one of the first lieutenants of David Belasco, has telegraphed the trustees of the new theater in the Newsboys' building at Toledo, asking for terms for a long time lease of the theater, for the purpose of installing a high class stock company there, similar to the one he is now managing in Hartford, Conn. The rental committee of the trustees decided, however, that it is not advisable to enter into such an arrangement at this time, and so notified Mr. Cook.

A FOOL THERE WAS IS LIKED IN GOTHAM

Porter Emerson Browne's New Play Is Given Metropolitan Production at Liberty Theater.

New York, March 24.

A Fool There Was, a new play by Porter Emerson Browne, was given its premier metropolitan production here tonight with a strong cast headed by Robert Hilliard. The play was in three acts and was given its premier at Albany last Wednesday. The Liberty theater was nearly filled by a keenly appreciative audience.

While the play is the old story of two men and one woman, the triangle is given a fresh impetus, particularly from the fact that the usual triangle play is the problem of two women and one man.

The Hon. John Schuyler is a big man in New York life; a big man financially, socially and diplomatically. He has been ordered to Europe on an important diplomatic mission, and the opening of the play has its scene in his country home with his wife, his seven year old daughter, Muriel, a bosom friend, Tom, and his wife's sister, Jean. The second scene of the first act shows the deck of an ocean liner about to sail. Just before John Schuyler arrives, and before his wife and daughter come to see him off, a young man—Parmalee by name—shoots himself the servants have left because of Schuyler's violent disposition, his valet has gone and his secretary is about to leave. Schuyler is a broken, weakened drunkard; a man who is trying his best to forget, but who cannot. In this scene the wife and daughter are introduced. They have come to get the husband and father. With the help of the friend, they have installed enough confidence into his weakened mentality to make him agree to leave this shattered house and make a final attempt to pull himself up to what he had been. He packs his valise and is about to leave, when the woman—the Vampire—enters for the last time. She tells him that she loathes him—he tells her that he hates her, despises her. He pictures to what depths of degradation he has sunk because of her; her only reply is "Kiss me, my fool," and the last moment of the act sees him struggling between his desire to do what is right and his lust for this creature.

From Kipling's poem Mr. Brown obtains the title of his play, the suggestion of much of his action as well as of his philosophy.

THE CEBALLOS, ROSALIA AND HILARION.

Rosalia and Hilarion Ceballos, who have made a remarkable hit on the vaudeville circuits for the past several years, first made a name for themselves in the circus world, where they were associated with the Barnum and Bailey show; in fact, Rosalia was born while her mother was with that famous tented enterprise, and both of the team spent the greater portion of their earlier life with the white tops. The Phantastic Phantoms opened at Hammerstein's and made a big impression at the start, the wonderful black and white effect proving a striking novelty and the work of the players proving a rare display of talent. They were later featured as headliners on the Pacific coast. They are now booked on the Orpheum and Keith and Proctor Circuits for the next two years.

dead at the feet of a mysterious woman, who is a passenger on the outgoing liner. This woman is the Vampire of the piece; a tall, sinuous, fascinating creature, who has already brought ruin to two other foolish admirers, and only laughs when young Parmalee spatters his brains on the deck. As the ship is sailing, John Schuyler notices her, and it is apparent that he is more than ordinarily interested.

The European mission is to take only five weeks, but in the first scene of the second act the weeks have lengthened into months, and Schuyler's friends, his wife and little daughter are uneasy over his prolonged absence. They find out eventually that he is living abroad with the fair passenger, the Vampire, who has found nothing but mirth in the death and misery of his three predecessors. Eventually he returns, but not to his wife and child. He takes up his lodging in the town house, and his constant companion is still the fascinating creature whom we have first seen at the departure of the steamship. The president has asked him to resign his commission, he has been forced to resign from his clubs, his friends have cut him; his home ties, decency and self respect have gone to the winds; he is ashamed of himself, full of remorse, but still under the thrall of the woman. To forget, he has recourse to drink, and when he is unbraided by his most intimate friend, he can only justify his downfall and his sudden condition by the statement that: "when Destiny can't get a man any other way she sends a woman, and the woman gets him."

The wife, heartbroken, does not resort to divorce. She still loves her husband, and believes that she can save him. In this belief she is backed up by her friend, Tom, who loves her dearly, but who is the type of man who stifles his own love to promote the love and happiness of others. The last scene of the third act shows the library of Schuyler's town house, some months after his return to America; the mirrors are broken, dust is everywhere,

Posters Offend Comstock.

New York, March 22.

Anthony Comstock got busy Saturday because some poster offended his esthetic taste. They had been posted on the wall of the old East River Bank building at Duane and Center streets, which is being torn down to make way for the new Brooklyn bridge approach. He put a special agent, Charles J. Bamberger, in charge of the work. A large force of workmen spent the afternoon covering up the objectionable posters with new posters while Bamberger watched them.

While men with new posters were busily at work the men employed in demolishing the old bank building poked fun at them. They shouted to the bill posters to hurry with the work, as the posters annoyed them. Bamberger, at the end of the job ordered by Comstock, expressed himself as well satisfied, and went away smiling, prepared to make a report to his chief that the orders were carried out to the letter.

REPERTOIRE NOTES

The Hickman-Bessey company closed the season March 20 at Rock Island, Ill.

Myna Ketchum is in her second season with the Latimore & Leigh stock company.

The Cutter stock company is at Kalamazoo, Mich., this week. The Monday night bill was For Home and Honor.

Robert Sherman's company made prices ten cents all over the house at Kewanee, Ill., last week in a vain attempt to attract the crowds.

The McNavin-Nash stock company is playing the Wallace theater at Peru, Ind., this week. The opening bill was The Ways of the Wicked.

Frankie Carpenter and her company appeared at the Soldiers Home theater near Augusta, Me., on Monday and Tuesday nights of this week.

The Don C. Hall company will play Hohen, N. Y., next week, Wensville, April 5-10, Olean April 12-14, Salamanca April 19-24 and Corty, Pa., April 26-May 1.

C. E. Ravencroft, who is at Mishawaka, Ind., is organizing a repertoire company and has the cast selected. He will go on the road soon.

Latimore & Leigh divide this week between Rockford, Ill., and Beloit, Wis. The company goes into stock at the Minut houses at Davenport, Rock Island and Monroe for the summer.

William A. Conway, who is manager of the Coliseum at Danville, Ill., was in Chicago Monday looking for repertoire companies to play the house, which has a stage 41x55 and a seating capacity of 4,000.

The Alton-Berger stock company went to pieces at Gannett, S. C. Several members of the company went to Spartanburg where they complained that salaries were not paid in full. Arthur Maudsley, a member of the company, has signed with a pack in Columbia, S. C.

Business with the repertoire organizations playing the towns near Chicago is good and bad. Early in the season repertoire organizations were doing exceptionally well in this territory, but the majority of them are now having some bad weeks mixed in with the good.

THE MANAGERS

Percy Williams will be entertained by The Friars on April 20.

Corse Ratyon led the grand march at the White Kats' second annual ball.

M. M. Thiese will manage the Madison Square roof garden in New York the coming summer.

A. H. Wood arranged a professional matinee of The Girl from Hector's to take place in New York March 20.

William A. Brady will produce The Dollar Mark next season. A successor of The Man of the Hour is anticipated.

George C. Tyler has gone abroad and will tour Spain, France and Italy. He expects to return about the middle of July.

Thomas W. Ryley is arranging to give vacations to the chorus girls of the Queen of the Moulin Rouge. The vacations begin on May 1.

Marc Klaw is reported to have sworn out a complaint against the New York Press for criminal libel in addition to the civil suit asking $100,000 damages.

Barton & Wiswell will present a new musical review, The Binkens, during the early summer in a Broadway theater, according to an announcement which reaches this office. The book has been furnished by Thomas K. Henly, who has placed the scene or action on an imaginary planet during the reign of rival kings who have evolved from graven images. The characters are of many kinds and shapes, and the scope for scenic display and costuming is unlimited and lavish.

Harrison Grey Fiske has engaged Katherine De Barry to originate the role of Mama de Branscombe in The Gay Life. When Roy L. McCardell's Chorus Girl stories first made their appearance in print Miss De Barry wrote the humorist from Baltimore, asking him if he would make them the basis of a vaudeville sketch, as the character of Mama de Branscombe particularly appealed to her. Mr. McCardell thanked Miss De Barry for her interest, but stated that inasmuch as he was then contemplating placing these characters in a comedy, he could not, of course, acquiesce in her request. Miss De Barry says it seems positively uncanny that out of a whole world of actresses Mr. Fiske should accidentally meet and select her for the part, and the only way she can explain the strange coincidence is that she has been wishing for this so long that she just naturally wished herself on to Mr. Fiske.

Minneapolis Undecided.

Minneapolis, March 22.

Local managers are in an undecided state as yet regarding moving pictures. Only a few have signed the agreement. The majority have refused to do so, but are still being furnished films. Of the local moving picture houses all but two or three are controlled by one of the exchanges here, which is under the trust banner.

The independent managers and the theater managers are pleased to see an independent exchange started here, and is believed the Mullin Film Service will do well as soon as things shape up in running order.—BARNES.

SWANSON TALKS OF TRUST TO EXHIBITORS

Through the courtesy of William H. Swanson, the exhibitors and operators of Chicago were given a rare treat at the Sherman House last Monday afternoon, when a demonstration of foreign films was given, and was followed by a luncheon in the College Inn, at which Mr. Swanson was the host to nearly three hundred local film men.

The exhibition of films, which was given in one of the second floor dining rooms of the hotel, gave the guests an opportunity to prove their appreciation of the imported film product, and they were unstinted in their acknowledgement of the merits of the output of the dozen or more European manufacturers which was shown them.

Engraved invitations for the "feast" had been sent out by Mr. Swanson some days in advance, and, although the view of the pictures and the "spread" which followed may have been enjoyed by those present, there is not the least doubt that the most intense moments of the afternoon were experienced during the period when Mr. Swanson addressed the assemblage and gave them many further facts in regard to his withdrawal from the Motion Picture Patents Company. He was interrupted many times by the applause of the crowd. He said in part:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I assure you it affords me much pleasure to think that the managers and operators present who are accustomed to seeing film daily see enough merit in the productions presented to applaud them.

"I will start out with a few words about the formation of the trust.

"I will say to you truthfully, gentlemen, as I can prove later, that in cancelling me the Trust merely anticipated my action by a few days. I had been an Independent for two or three weeks prior to that time. The Motion Picture Patents Company formed what they thought to be a 'Royal Flush.' However, as I just heard a gentleman in the back of the room remark, it does not seem possible that they could have been so senile as to have overlooked gathering up attractions such as you have just observed. It was ridiculous for them not to have safe-guarded their retreat and protected themselves against that competition.

"In forming the Motion Picture Patents Company, let us take up one by one their ideas. Let us go back to the formation of the Film Service Association.

Why the Trust Was Formed.

"The formation of the Trust was for various purposes. They have laid out a great many plans and held out rosy promises, which they have not kept. We will take up their first plan for discussion.

"The first object they had was to dictate as to what film exchanges would be considered by them. Bear in mind, gentlemen, that I can prove by affidavits and by living witnesses that less than a year ago two film manufacturers in Chicago remarked to numbers of parties not to go into the film renting business for the reason that in a year's time there would be no film exchanges, but that the manufacturers would control the business themselves. The object of the Patents company was to dictate who should and who should not rent film, and who they would license and who would be given the opportunity to surrender their entire business and sign a bill of sale to that business. Each Trust film exchange is dictated to as to what customers they shall take on. You know as well as I do that no trust film exchange today can take on an account without first submitting the name or at least, without first asking that customer if he has a license issued by the Patents company.

"There is a gentleman in this room at the present time from Greencastle, Ind., who, when he sent in the money for his license, did so with the specification added that while he was willing to pay the money, he wanted to pay the money in the form of a fee and not a royalty. I believe you will readily see the distinction between the words 'fee' and 'royalty.' When you pay a royalty you acknowledge a man's claim to something and are paying for the privilege or license of using it. If you pay a man a fee, that is a reimbursement and you are merely paying for some service rendered. They did not answer his letter directly, but he received a letter from the film exchange with whom he was doing business, saying that they would have to cut him off, simply because he made a distinction between paying a royalty and a fee.

"It was the intention of the Patents company to gain control of the film exchanges. They were going to increase the output of film to suit themselves. They were going to set a schedule for film rental. That is an old story, as you know there has been a schedule. You also know the consequences of that schedule. On top of that what was to prevent them, when they had cut the number of film exchanges down to thirty-five, as they said in New York they were going to do, to step into a film exchange and say, Mr. Jones, Mr. Smith or Mr. Brown, which ever the case might be, 'We want 50% of your business.'

Believes in Liberty.

"Gentlemen, I am not a socialist, nor an anarchist, but I believe every man should have a perfect right to do as he pleases within legal boundaries. I do not believe in doing an injustice to anyone, but I certainly must protest against the objects of this combination of men banded together for the purpose of gain for their own benefit solely.

Well Known Film Man Entertains Large Gathering of Chicago Managers at College Inn.

"The first thing they did was to look around for some one to hold up as an example and make a goat of. Yours truly, 'I will say that I had been practically independent for weeks before I was cancelled. The only reason I had not announced it was the fact that I did not wish to be cancelled before the Independent film was released.

"Since the formation of the Film Service Association, it has been the talk of manufacturers that there were too many film exchanges in existence and the number must be reduced. Since the formation of the Patents company, it is said that there are too many theaters in America. What would they do to reduce them? If they could put the small, cheap theaters in the small towns on the outskirts of the larger cities out of business, they could in this way kill the small film exchanges, and they want to get the small film renter out of the way. They are going to foster and build up the larger and more pretentious places. Possibly that might be a good idea. I will not criticize this or say whether it would or would not, but what right have they to put a man out of business just because he has not ten thousand dollars to build a theater and builds one for a thousand dollars? That thousand dollars is just as much to him as the ten thousand dollars is to the other man, and perhaps more. He has his investment in there. It never occurs to them that the man possibly has a family to support and that they are taking away his only means of gaining a livelihood. They do not stop to think of the hundreds of operators they will put out of work. They never give that a thought. That is why I have been a staunch advocate of the unionism of operators. When the local union was formed in Chicago, a committee waited on me and asked my opinion. I told them I was heartily in favor of it and I put the first men to work at an advanced salary.

Urges Organization.

"Suppose it were possible to reduce the number of Chicago theaters one-third. That would mean that more than a hundred operators would be out of work. They must all make a living in the best way they can. If they cannot get work as an operator they must turn to something else and put some other man out of work. The union operators have protection through the fact that they have organization.

"You exhibitors would find your strength in organization. It does not make any difference to me whether you are organized to use Independent or Trust film. Use any film you want to, but get together. You have a business that must be looked after. You have an organization here in Chicago but I do not believe it is of much consequence. Strengthen your organization and it will not be long before it will be national in its character for the same reason that the operators' organization has grown to its present proportions. Again I am referring to the matter of the injustice of the Patents company. If they can regulate the number of exchanges, and if they can regulate the number of shows, I have pointed out the possibility of coming into an exchange and demanding 50% of the business. In turn, what would prevent them from going into a theater and demanding 50% of its business, if it is to continue to operate? You know, that in Switzerland or in France you cannot buy or rent a certain film. You must give a prominent French firm 50% to get it. What is to prevent them from doing this here?

"Again I say to you gentlemen—get together. It does not make any difference whether you use Trust or Independent film. We do not care. The Independents are bound to get at least 25% of the business. If there are four theaters in a locality, three of which are using the Trust output, the fourth must secure different film in order to avoid repetitions. Consequently the Independents will get 25% of the business. That is enough. In order to prevent the designs of the Patents company on your business, you must give at least your moral support to the Independents in order to hold your business. You will readily understand that. The Patents company have stated what they are going to do. What is it they are going to do? Do they not say, gentlemen, that it will be necessary to secure their consent to build a theater? A man who had never heard of this might go ahead and build his theater. When he has completed his building he calls on a film exchange for his machine, film service, etc. The first question they ask is 'Have you a license?' What a fine chance that would be for the Patents company to say to some one in their favor, 'We won't give that fellow a license. You can go in and buy that theater for about fifteen dollars.'

Cannot Enforce Rules.

"They have not laid down one single rule that they have been able to enforce. I am going to relate some startling facts to you, gentlemen, before I get through. They started out by saying that you must pay ten dollars. They started out by promising me, along with five other gentlemen, that they would collect that money themselves. I protested against the film exchanges having anything to do with the collection of that money. I wanted the odium to rest where it belonged. If there was to be a stench and bad smell, I wanted it to come from them and not the Film Service Association or any film exchange. They promised a committee that they would collect that money and the film exchanges would have absolutely nothing to do with getting it any more than advising their customers to pay it. We had not been back from New York more than ten days when they got busy, saying, 'Collect that money for us. If an exhibitor has not paid up by the 13th of February, cut him off and do it quick. The exhibitors won't have any place to go to get their films, and they will have to come back to you. If you lose some of your customers you will get some others fellows, so it will equalize itself.' What a splendid opportunity for a film exchange to cut off 95% of its business! Out of the 156 customers we have in the Chicago office, only seven signed their agreement! I did my best to try to get them to sign up with the Patents company. I wanted them to stick. I needed the money. I couldn't see any escapement or any way out of it. It didn't look as if there was any possible chance to get away.

"That was their plan number one.

"Plan number two, was that they would cut off every film exchange that violated their agreements in one single iota. They wanted an example and they grabbed me. I was quite willing to be grabbed. They then took one of the offices of the Pittsburgh Calcium Light & Film Company, in Pittsburgh, called the Pennsylvania Film Exchange. The next was the Wonderland Film Exchange, also of Pittsburgh. Next in line was the Star, of Chicago, formerly the Cut-Rate. After that, Eugene Cline was cancelled. I want to ask you, gentlemen, does this appeal to your common sense? All of you in this room know whether I am right or wrong. If every film exchange in America, working under the license of the Trust, had been cut off for violating their agreements, especially in the matter of cutting off exhibitors for not paying the two dollar royalty, how many film exchanges would be working under their license at the present moment?

A Local Instance.

"They sent a representative on from New York. He telegraphed that he was coming, and gave the office boys of the Patents company notice to come over and see him. It wasn't worth while and the exchanges were not of sufficient consideration for him to go around and see them. The essence of his cry was, 'Have your exhibitors paid?' 'No! Only a few.' 'Well, we will let you pay it. You must either pay it now or cut them off tonight.' Every exchange man in Chicago that afternoon had instructions to cut off every customer who had not paid the two dollar a week royalty. I will say to you gentlemen, that it is absolutely silly for you to pay that money. You don't have to. Your film exchange will pay it for you and be glad to do it. They don't want you to get away.

A prominent Chicago theater using about 400 feet of film a week, which is supplied by a Patents company licensee who is looked upon as one of the favored few, sent a representative to me for service and I quoted him a price of $7.50 a week. He said, 'No, I will give you what I am paying now, $4.00 a week. The film doesn't have to be new. Anything will do, but you are to pay the license.' I said, 'Oh, no. I can't do that.' He replied, 'Our exchange is doing it now.' Just imagine getting four dollars a week for service and giving two dollars of that to the Patents company! I want to say that I can prove what I have just said.

"How many film exchanges do you suppose are reporting every customer? They are obliged to send in a daily report on a long printed legal form to the Patents company. I wonder if they are reporting every one they take on? I also wonder how many of them knocked off their customers? I have been carrying a full page ad. in THE SHOW WORLD and other papers for three weeks, and I haven't had to take on any extra clerks to take care of the customers knocked off by the Trust film exchanges. I haven't seen anyone breaking their necks to get in.

"After cutting off the five film exchanges I mentioned, they had a meeting in New York last week and took some of them back. The Independents had gotten too much of a hold to suit them. They have taken back the Star and the Wonderland and the Pennsylvania, and I was approached as to how I would feel if an invitation was extended me to come back. Owing to the fact that there are Independents, I can hardly tell you the answer I gave that fellow. I don't want to go back. They couldn't give me their film for half price and induce me to come back, and, gentlemen, I want to go on record as saying that. I don't want a finger pointed at me in the future, saying, 'He said he wouldn't, but he did.' Not me. They can break me. I will go as far as I can and I can't go farther than that.

How Trust Uses Law.

"Now, then, I want you to point out a single thing they said they would do that they did.

"In New York and Chicago they have in several instances replevined film during the course of an entertainment, at us after the courts were closed, and when was too late to get a bond and continue with the performance. It is very possible that they fixed it up with some exhibit to stand for it so they could say it had been done.

"They grabbed a couple of reels of film from a certain Chicago film exchange afterwards they came back to the exchange man and said they didn't want. Neither did he. They did not know the film had been purchased without restrictions in Canada and Mexico. They would have been mighty glad to hand back,—but they still have it.

"I do not believe, gentlemen, that a film exchange, whether Trust or Independent, should use the other men's goods. The moment he does he shows weakness. It shows that he cannot stand on his feet. I would not accept as a gift a film of Trust film. I don't want it. If I do not get along satisfactorily with the people I am doing business with on the Independent film, I don't want your business. I would not allow myself to lose my respect or admit to myself that I could get along with other film.

"I want to say how that any man running Independent film in his theater, who uses Trust film in connection with the Independent, will not be able to get Independent film.

"We have tried in every way possible and cannot get an answer or receive acknowledgement from the Trust. They will not say anything for fear of overstepping themselves. They have never yet signed a letter or sent anything through the mails over a signature. They have never sent out anything but printed circulars and business has been transacted by telegraph.

"As to the supply of Independent film, I want to say that I have already secured enough film to release twenty reels a week for five weeks that is placed in the different store rooms of the International company.

Releasing of Film.

"As regards the securing of film from the various exchanges, I am, naturally in the dark. It will be along the same lines as has been customary, with one exception. I pointed out, fully, to manufacturers while a member of the association, the fallacy of releasing film on particular days and of sending advance notices to customers. No film exchange will pay more money for film than it takes in. They buy their one, two or three releases, and if every customer they asked for a certain film, they would but it for them. There is no trust film exchange, or I might say, any film exchange, that is not buying up to the limit and sometimes more film than their gross receipts amount to. The Independent film will be released all in one day. You will not have to bother about what the fellow across the street is running and try to avoid it. You will have plenty of time and choice with Independent film.

"Some eleven or twelve years ago Armat & Jenkins, two young machinists in Washington, worked out an improvement on a projecting machine and built a machine. Mr. Armat had not money enough to protect his patent. Mr. Jenkins went to work for the Columbia Phonograph Company. The Columbia Phonograph Company bought from Mr. Jenkins the right to the Armat-Jenkins patent. Two, three, four or more men are interested in a patent it is just the same as a partnership. One owns the thing just as much as the other. The Edison company got a shop right, no patent right, but a shop right from Mr. Armat, on his patent. The Columbia Phonograph Company purchased the patent right of Jenkins, and just last week Mr. Murdock of the International Projecting & Producing Company arranged for it from the Columbia Phonograph Company. The Patents company has not a single solitary thing that the International does not possess. Not one thing, gentlemen.

"Some years ago the American Muscope & Biograph Company sold their foreign rights to all their patents in Paris and the International Projecting & Producing Company has arranged for these European patent rights. Therefore the International has the same rights to identical the same patents claimed by the Trust.

"If that is not whipping a dog, I don't know what is. They haven't a leg left to stand on and it has only taken four weeks to whip them. Every patent claim they have we also have.

Where does that leave them?

Twenty-seven Reels Weekly.

"In the future there will be at least twenty-seven reels of Independent film released each week. They will consist of subjects that have been selected by the exchange men. Not by Mr. Murdock or his employees. There will be a day set aside each week and the exchange men in and surrounding Chicago will go to the 7th floor of the Schiller theater building where the International Projecting & Producing Company has its offices, and make their selection and decide as to what will be released. You can readily understand the value of that. There will be 'lemons' or 'Klondikes,' or anything that sort.

"Gentlemen, there is no use for me to take up any more of your time. We have provided some refreshment and I think a little stein will go pretty well after getting out of this hot room."

PATENT RIGHTS & OTHER THINGS

By J. J. MURDOCK

In view of the tremendous interest aroused by the statement printed in the metropolitan dailies last Saturday that J. J. Murdock had arranged with the Columbia Phonograph Company for the rights for the Armat-Jenkins patents, controlled by them through their original purchase of Jenkins' rights years ago, Mr. Murdock was approached by a representative of THE SHOW WORLD at the offices of the International Projecting and Producing Company and was asked to furnish some information regarding the matter.

"Yes, it is true that the International Projecting and Producing Company has the same right to the Armat-Jenkins patent as are claimed by our competitors.

"When I inaugurated the independent campaign, one of the first things we did was to arrange for one of the best patent attorneys in Washington to make a research through the archives of the patents office for a record of every patent issued for moving picture apparatus and the names of the inventors and all data as to the present holders of the patents. And to our surprise, the record showed that the Columbia Phonograph Company were the owners of the Jenkins' interests in the Armat-Jenkins patent. The International Company then immediately entered into negotiations with the Columbia Company to secure rights for the use of this patent. Last Friday night, after weeks of negotiation, papers were signed in Chicago which give the International Projecting and Producing Company the same right to the Armat-Jenkins patent which our competitors have."

Importance of Patents.

"What bearing will this transaction have on the future operations of your company?" was asked Mr. Murdock.

"While I have always questioned the validity of the patents claimed by our competitors, yet to lend further confidence to exhibitors and exchanges, I thought it just as well that we avail ourselves of this same sacred patent right which has been held over the trade as the magic talisman and has given the greatest excuse for their threatened legal procedure.

"The Armat-Jenkins patent right, together with the patents which the Biograph Company sold in France some years ago, but which patents the foreigner did not deem important enough to use, gives the International Projecting and Producing Company's imported films the same stamp that the so-called licensed films have."

"What is to be your method of releasing films now that your first release has been made?"

"The entire weekly shipment of films will be made to the exchanges each week in time for release on Mondays. And in this connection it has been just brought to my attention that a few of the exchanges who secured our first week's release mixed these films in with other foreign films of a shoddy type, and are leading the exhibitor to believe that all of their output this week is from the International vaults. It matters not to us where they secure their films, but it does concern us, vitally, when we are placed in a false light through an exchange representing an inferior quality of goods when the exhibitor has asked for, presumes, and is paying for, the International service."

Fraudulent Service.

"I wish through the columns of your valuable paper, that you would ask every independent exhibitor who is under the impression that he is getting International film, to write our office, giving us the title of the subjects furnished him daily, and we will immediately advise him whether they are International subjects or otherwise. We have tried to play fair with the exchange man but we must insist that he play fair with the exhibitor, for the International Projecting and Producing Company is going to treat the exhibitor as one of its family, and will always foster their enterprises. Furthermore, while I stated some weeks ago that we intended to invite, from time to time, the exchange men to a conference with us for the betterment of the moving picture industry we are going a step further, and ask the exhibitor to hold a conference with us and I am now arranging to visit every city of prominence and invite the exhibitor from the surrounding towns to meet and discuss his needs and receive advice from him as to how we can improve his condition. It is only through co-operation that we can hope to gain success. And the interest of each exhibitor, no matter how small apparently his theater may be, is our interest. And it is along these lines that the International Company intends to build up one of the strongest organizations for the general good of the moving picture industry, placing it upon a plane second to no other amusement interest in the world.

And we further want the exhibitor to understand that every complaint is important enough and every suggestion will be welcomed. And furthermore, in our desire to acquaint the exhibitor with the superiority of our films, in those cities where exchanges have not already been established, we are giving public exhibitions and will establish exchanges there, if we must do so ourselves, in order to supply the demand. Exhibitions are now being given on the Pacific coast, others in Michigan and still others in the southern states. And this reminds me that we need a number of good capable men of experience who thoroughly understand the exchange branch of the business as we are desirous of starting such men up in business in those cities where exchanges have not been established. Of course you can understand that we will require men of high calibre and they can readily appreciate the opportunity to build up with the moving picture industry of the future."

May Open Exchanges.

"May we infer, then, that the International Company is to open independent film exchanges on its own account?"

"Not generally but only in those cities now controlled by the trust and in those cases we intend to give backing to the enterprising men whom we select on account of their ability and experience. It is not our intention to interfere with the legitimate exchange man, but it is our intention to exploit our goods in every city, large or small in the United States.

"The independent campaign can now be said to be in full swing; no pains nor expense will be spared in our co-operation with the exchanges and the exhibitors. We have the best films, as is evidenced by our first week's release, which has awakened a tremendous demand for the second. We have carried out every promise and obligation to the letter, and, as I have stated before, our interest and success should be the interest of every moving picture exhibitor and exchange, no matter what their affiliations may be. As it is through our success that he will attain independence and enable him to throw off the trust shackles that threaten to enmesh him.

"One of the greatest jokes in the trust's comedy of errors was the announcement during the past week that the licensed exchange man who had been kicked out, irrespective of what happened to his business or the loss of money invested therein, could return to the trust fold by paying a nominal fine. How fatherly the heads of the trust are to their children turned out in the cold and just at the point of entering the open door to the cozy hearthside of the independents! Lo, and behold, this kindhearted trust reaches out its clammy hand and says 'come back and let us kick you out again as one of our members did not see us do it.'"

No Exclusive Agencies.

"It would appear from the number of letters which we have received from moving picture men that the idea is still prevalent that you have exclusive agencies."

"This question seems absurd to me now as week after week we have been advertising through the columns of the papers, stating that we have no agent nor exclusive exchanges. Then if these parties who are writing you, understand plain English, why under the sun do they not write to our offices here and get the desired information at first hand and not be guided by rumour. There is one price, one condition, for each and every exchange and every man with clean hands, and the price, can get our service. We want the exhibitor to understand that no one exchange has any greater favors or rights than another. This is the policy of the International Company. We have no 'big-three' combinations or any other pets. The independent movement is designed to benefit all legitimate moving picture men with special favors towards none. Now that we have eliminated the patent 'bug-aboo' in securing the patent rights and have at our command the finest legal force, both in the east and in the west, that was ever organized, and with the best films in the world, what greater protection can the exhibitor demand?"

"I have before on the matter of duping. I hardly expect our company to escape, and you may expect to hear from me very forcibly on this matter later.

"Readers of THE SHOW WORLD will be interested to know that on next Monday the International Company will move into its permanent offices, on the seventh floor of the Schiller building, which have been completely equipped with all modern conveniences and with a bijou theater, where two operators will always be in attendance to project our films for visiting exhibitors and exchange men."

New Song Slides.

The Brayton Manufacturing Company has just completed three new song slide sets, for the Holy City, Palms, and From the Garden to the Cross. The demand for these from theatres is said to be greatly on the increase, and the company is working overtime filling orders.

Inspector Condemns Films.

Fifteen films were condemned in this city by Inspector Joseph L. Tischart this week, as being unfit for exhibition to the public. Among them are said to be The Wrong Bottle, Vengeance of Larvin, Train Robbery, Tracked by a Dog, The Rag Picker's Daughter, and The Exploits of a Detective.

TWO THOUSAND AT CINCINNATI MEETING

The meeting held in Cincinnati by the International Projecting & Producing Company at the Lyric theater on Thursday, March 18th, was attended by nearly 2,000 film men and their families. The boxes were occupied by leading society women and city officials. H. J. Streycckmans, secretary of the company, addressed the audience and explained to them the film situation. Every picture was applauded, and when "The Last Days of Pompeii" was thrown upon the screen, the hand-clapping continued for many minutes. While the reels were being changed, the Cincinnati Film Exchange, who will handle the product of the International Company in Cincinnati, threw upon the curtain various slides regarding the trust which were greeted with applause.

After the wonderful creation in motography, "The Last Days of Pompeii," had been run off and the demonstration of the audience had subsided, Mr. Streycckmans stepped out upon the stage and called attention to the detail in the picture, and said: "After seeing such product, is it any wonder that the trust is making such strenuous efforts to have the duty raised on foreign film? It is a well-known fact that various manufacturers take their pictures upon the roofs of their factories. You will realize how impossible it is to take a picture like this on a roof."

Exchange Men Enthusiastic.

Jerome M. Jackson and J. W. McMahan, of the Cincinnati Film Exchange, began taking on new customers immediately after the meeting. J. W. McMahan said to a representative of THE SHOW WORLD: "We are very enthusiastic indeed over the independent film handled by the International Projecting & Producing Company. We feel sure that with such product at our command we can satisfy the needs of the most exacting exhibitor. To tell the truth, I myself was surprised at the quality of the goods, even though I had expected to see some good film."

Jerome M. Jackson said: "The audience who witnessed these films was composed of film men and their wives, society people and city officials. They certainly came here to criticize, and their judgment was shown by the tremendous applause which greeted every picture. In all my experience in the film business, I have never seen moving pictures which aroused so much enthusiasm as those exhibited at the Lyric theater by the International Projecting & Producing Company."

Description of Films.

The films exhibited were the product of Ambrosio, Lux, Raleigh & Roberts, Itala, Warwick Trading Company, and Hepworth. The titles of the subjects were as follows:

Phantom Games—A magical subject in which various games are mysteriously played without any apparent human aid. For example, a game of checkers is shown in which the checkers move about, jump each other, and play by themselves. In a game of cards, the pack shuffles itself, deals itself, and the various hands play the cards by themselves. The same is also done in a game of dominos, and after it is over, a box mysteriously appears and the dominos jump into it and a cover is placed thereon.

Master and Servant—This is an interesting subject of a nobleman who is attacked by his servant and thrown over a cliff. The servant impersonates his master and is about to marry a beautiful girl when the master appears and exposes his plot.

The Lost Head.

Who Has Seen My Head?—This is a laughable comedy showing a policeman who is assaulted and has his head knocked off. The head goes through various hands, horrifying the finders, who endeavor to dispose of it. In the meantime the policeman is hot on the trail. The head finally reaches police headquarters and is dispatched to the man's wife. The policeman is explaining to his horrified better half how he came to lose his head when it is returned to him and they dance in glee.

Film Enthusiasts Out in Force to Witness Exhibition of International Company's Importation.

Countess Valeria Von Issogna—A story of feudal times in which a beautiful countess is sent to a convent to separate her from her lover. He effects her escape, is followed and overtaken, and a terrific sword combat follows. He is taken by the minister, who marries the couple and upbraids the soldiers who arrive and would do the couple harm.

Moonlight on the Nile—A beautiful scenic subject showing the Nile river by moonlight, the rippling waters, magnificent scenery, and the various craft sailing down the river.

A Stormy Sea—This is a pictorial reproduction of a storm showing the mountainous billows dashing against the rocks, scattering clouds of spray, and presenting a beautiful sight of the angry sea, which should prove popular with lovers of beautiful scenes.

The Regimental Barber—The regimen-

The Days of the Northman—A story of the days when the semi-civilized Northmen created terror in Europe. They attack a castle and after a fierce conflict overpower the guards and kidnap a beautiful girl. Her lover has performed a service to a witch and she has given him a magic horn which calls to his aid various Genii. He blows this horn and with his magical aid he starts in pursuit. After many exciting incidents he recovers his beloved and brings her back.

Of Interest to Children.

Baby's Chum—This picture shows the wonderful intelligence of a canine. The baby is put to sleep, and the dog is locked in an adjoining room. Burglars effect an entrance and kidnap the baby. The dog hears the intruders and makes frantic efforts to burst the door. Finally in desperation he actually gnaws his tal barber has an appointment with his sweetheart, and in order to meet her he shaves the entire regiment in short notice, placing them in line and going through some startling maneuvers in effecting the purpose regardless of the pain and inconvenience inflicted upon hapless victims. This picture must be seen to be appreciated.

A Fairy Story.

The Fairy Sword—A pleasing fairy story in which the daughter of a king has been stolen by an ogre. The prince starts out to rescue her and is assisted by numerous fairies who fly through the air with white wings and guide him. They provide him with an enormous sword with which he overcomes the hideous ogre, releases the princess and restores her to her father amidst great rejoicing. As a reward, he receives the princess in marriage and one-half of the kingdom.

Last Days of Pompeii—This is a subject in which the pantomime of the actors brings out vividly Bulwer Lytton's celebrated novel of that title. The light and tone of the picture are studies in the photographic art. The final ending with the allegorical scene of the blind girl Nydia surrounded by flowers thrown on the bosom of the ocean is a gem of motion photography. The story holds interest throughout, and the depiction of the amphitheater, the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius, the destruction of Pompeii, the maddened populace, the falling walls and columns, the flames, and the flow of lava present a spectacular drama which cannot be praised too highly.

way through the panels and attacks the burglars. One escapes with the child, while the other battles with the dog, but is finally overcome. The dog then takes up the pursuit of the other burglar, catches up with him and overpowers him. The last picture shows the baby with the dog feeding him cakes.

The Royalist's Wife—This story of olden times is replete with sword playing and startling incidents. The climax of the subject is when the Royalist's wife, who has disguised herself as a soldier, fights a duel with an officer in pursuit of her husband. The woman taking this part is considered to be the most expert swordswoman in Europe.

Foolish King of Policemen—A laughable comedy in which Foolishhead takes the part of a detective without success in effecting the capture of the parties he seeks, but getting into all kinds of trouble in their pursuit. He finally lands in jail owing to the numerous disturbances he has created.

Tylda and Her Lions—Tylda is seen in a cage playing with three enormous lions. She has neither whip nor gun, and handles the ferocious beasts like kittens. They romp with her and lick her face. Tylda is forced to marry a rich man whom she hates. She has a last meeting with her lover and at the wedding feast poisons herself. Making her way to the lions' den she dies in their midst, the moonlight streaming down and making a beautiful and awe inspiring effect. The last picture shows Tylda with her three lions standing guard over her.

LIBERTY FOR MINE SAYS R. G. BACHMAN

The fact that R. G. Bachman, president of the Twentieth Century Optiscope Company, had wired his resignation as a licensee of the Motion Picture Patents Company created considerable comment in film circles following the exclusive publication of the story in last week's issue of THE SHOW WORLD.

Mr. Bachman is one of the best known and most popular film exchange men in the middle west, and controls an enviable trade. The fact that he was about to throw down the gauntlet to the Patents Company will probably give courage to others. Heretofore the Patents Company has ruled things with a high hand, and has always taken the initiative in "cutting off" exchanges.

When asked his reasons for his actions, Mr. Bachman said: "Our firm had been thrown overboard, practically by the outrageous demands the Trust made upon our clients. We were in a drowning condition and had to take quick, incisive action to save ourselves. We saw nothing but failure ahead of us as long as we continued as a licensee of the Trust, while on the other hand we saw liberty, independence and prosperity by becoming affiliated with the men on the 'outside.' So, we loosened up on the octopus, and cancelled our connections, by giving the requisite fourteen days' notice."

Trust Was Surprised.

"I am informed that the Trust was greatly surprised at my action. They thought that an exchange would have the dignity and courage to withdraw, had probably never occurred to it."

"But, whereas I gave the required fourteen days' notice of discontinuance, the Trust held a meeting and decided to cut off my supply immediately. I had, however, prepared for just such an emergency and had arranged to have the pick of twenty-seven independent reels ready to supply our trade. Probably the Trust figured that if they shut us off immediately, it would cripple the trade, but thanks to the sterling independence of our clients, that plan was frustrated."

"Notices were mailed to all our patrons, one day in advance of our withdrawal of cancellation with the Trust. Telegrams and letters began pouring in from all parts of the United States in less than twenty-four hours, congratulating us for our bold stand, and assuring us of support. Thus far, we have not had a single account."

"The charges they have made thus far are slight in comparison to what is contemplated. It would appear that their object is to catch us with a six months supply of stock on hand and then demand the return of their leased films, and thus, all there would be left for us to do would be to walk out and quit business."

Exhibitor Gets Worst of It.

"The poor exhibitor seems to be getting the worst of the whole deal. He is forced to pay higher prices for Trust film, and the additional outrageous royalty for machines he has already paid for in full, when he purchased them outright, years ago, long before anyone dreamed of framing a hold-up game."

J. W. MCMAHAN.

"We bought film outright about a year ago at eight cents a foot. Now we are charged eleven cents a foot with the raw material cheaper than it was at the beginning."

"Any person with an ounce of sense must see that this is nothing short of a cold-blooded holdup; that the Trust is trying to squeeze every cent out of the business. And I want to warn exhibitors to be prepared for the time when the Trust will claim absolute ownership of the projecting machines."

"I have been in the business since 1896 and have a fair knowledge of what is right and what is wrong, and you may believe that I would not have taken my present stand without a thorough consideration of all the points in the case."

UNGRATEFUL JOCKEY TOUCHES HIS FRIEND.

Old Story of the Ingrate Who Robs His Friend When the Wrinkles Get Out of His Stomach.

New Orleans, March 20. Marvin Gilman, who lectures at the Shubert theater in connection with the moving picture displays, reported to the police today that his room had been ransacked by a man whom he had befriended, who took a watch valued at $500 together with $20 in cash and a suitcase.

Attached to the watch, which is an heirloom, having been left Mr. Gilman by his father, was an old fashioned solid gold chain, also an heirloom and very valuable.

Mr. Gilman charges James Dixon, alias Jimmie Cross, formerly a jockey, with having robbed him. The two had been friends for several days, and Dixon being in need of money had made several "touches." He at last gained access to the room, and the theft followed. The actor offered a reward for the return of the timepiece.

ETHEL MAY'S BIG HIT AT COLUMBUS, OHIO.

Columbus, Ohio, March 23. Ethel May, the mystery girl, drew the crowds to the High Street theater last week, and remains there this week, having cancelled her engagement at Richmond, Va. She goes to Dayton the week of March 29.—GRAF.

Panic Averted.

Sunbury, Pa., March 22. During the moving picture show at Bonst's theater in Northumberland on Saturday night a fire broke out in a building some blocks away from the theater. The flames were seen by some in the audience and the cry of fire raised. Several women fainted and for a short time it looked as if there would be a panic. Cooler heads prevailed and the frightened audience kept their seats although clothes were torn in the scrimmage.—McCREARY.

JAKE WELLS PLANS 'DOING OWN BOOKING'

Will Have Principal Office in Atlanta--Opens Albert in Chattanooga Under Name of Lyric

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 22. After remaining closed for nearly a year, the old Albert opera house opened last Monday, rechristened the Lyric, and broke all records for attendance, being crowded at every one of its four daily performances. The Lyric, as the opera house, has a history pretty nearly as old as the theatrical history of the city. It has been in continuous operation for over a quarter of a century, during which time all of the principal American and many of the English great actors and actresses have trod its stage. During its run of over 25 years it had but one manager, Paul R. Albert, at present manager of the Shubert theater here. Something over a year ago, Jake Wells, acting for the Bijou Theater company, secured a lease on this house, at the same time getting control of the Shubert, then just completed. Up to this time the opera house had been the home of the high-priced attractions and until the opening of the Bijou—two years previous—had been the only theater in Chattanooga. Jake Wells and Paul R. Albert perfected an arrangement whereby Mr. Albert was placed in the Shubert as manager, and since then the opera house has been closed, except for a few weeks last summer when Mr. Wells opened it and placed the Cameraphone on exhibition.

From now on it is the intention of Mr. Wells to devote the Lyric to vaudeville. He has secured the services of John P. Church as house manager, and Henry E. Smith, as assistant manager, while O. A. Neal, manager of the Bijou, will be the personal representative of the Lyric company. Mr. Church has had vast experience in the amusement business and has started out with a business-getting policy which has already caused the pessimists to look on askance. Henry Smith was business manager of the Murray and Mack company for a short time and left that organization here a few weeks ago to assume his present duties.

At present the booking for the house is being done by an agency located at Mobile, Ala., but it is understood to be the intention of Mr. Wells to do his own booking as soon as he can perfect plans for the agency. So far as outlined, Mr. Wells will have his principal booking office at Atlanta. Acts for the circuit of Wells' vaudeville houses will have their try-out at Atlanta and if they "make good" will then be catalogued and sent out. It is probable that in connection with the Atlanta booking office, Mr. Wells will establish a general press bureau or department and as each act is tried out it will be given an advance press notice that will be sent to each of the houses comprising the Wells vaudeville circuit. In this manner each one of the houses will have the benefit of a press agent without the expense which would otherwise be incurred.

The circuit, when completed as outlined at present, will consist of 15 or more houses. They will be located in Norfolk, Richmond, Lynchburg, Knoxville, Chattanooga, Greensboro, N. C., Nashville, Montgomery, Evansville, Atlanta, Birmingham, Portsmouth and Augusta. Houses are now in operation in Chattanooga, Atlanta, Nashville, Evansville, Augusta, Montgomery, Richmond, Norfolk and Portsmouth.—TURLEY.

Walter Whiteside in The Melting Pot will open the theater which Liebler & Co. will build in New York this year. The house will be ready by fall, it is announced.

CAN POLICE CLOSE SHOWS ON SUNDAY?

Amusement Men at Buffalo Kept Moving Picture Shows Open Last Sunday in Effort to Test the Matter.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 22. In Buffalo yesterday managers of some of the moving picture shows began a concerted movement to test the power of the police here to keep the shows closed on Sunday. The showmen opened their establishments and then tried to have the police arrest them in order that the issue might be aired in the courts. Only two of the theatrical men succeeded in getting into a police station and the efforts of the others to successfully run their shows were blocked by the police. Those who were arrested were simply charged with disorderly conduct and that because they got into an argument with a policeman who instructed them to close their shows. The theaters where unsuccessful attempts were made to run Sunday shows were the Grand and the Theater Comique. The cases will be tried in the local courts.—McGUIRE.

BUYING OUT A SHOW BEATS CHURCH FAIRS.

Urbana, Ill., March 22. Kathryn Osterman played to a $1,561 house St. Patrick's night and the house manager kept $1,061 of the amount. For that night the manager was Rev. Father J. H. Cannon of St. Patrick's church, and instead of the worn out church fair he buys out an attraction one night each year for the benefit of his church, thus helping a worthy profession and saving the members of his congregation much work. Father Cannon is a Chicago boy.—BROWN.

Lynch Comes to Chicago.

Spokane, Wash., March 23. W. A. Bates, who has been assistant treasurer at the Orpheum theater in Seattle, has been appointed treasurer of the Orpheum in Chicago. He has taken the place of James Lynch, who has accepted a position in Chicago.—SMITH.

COLONIAL VIOLATING THE CHILD LABOR LAW?

Oh No, It Is Simply Master Gabriel Who Appears to Be a Kid to Those Unfamiliar With His Work.

Little Nemo is one of those massive entertainments which cannot be described; it must be seen to be appreciated.

The elaborate scenery, the dazzling effects, the beautiful costumes, the graceful girls and funny comedians make up an evening's enjoyment that has not been equaled since Klaw & Erlanger presented their last production of this nature.

Little Nemo appeals to the showman from the standpoint of expense. Money is evidently no consideration when an attraction of this nature is being organized by Klaw & Erlanger, and as they are in a position to secure the choicest time and remain as long at a theater as the business warrants, it is plain to be seen that they have an advantage over other producers who are less fortunate in bookings and who perhaps have not such a liberal bank account on which to draw.

There are four comedians with Little Nemo, any of which would carry an ordinary show to success, and when credit is given for making the cartoon play a pleasing fairy spectacle it is difficult to select a favorite. Master Gabriel has the title role, and being smaller than the rest will be first mentioned in this review, as a matter of courtesy, if not because he deserves the distinction.

Gabriel is an admirable Nemo. Those who are unfamiliar with his work find it difficult to believe that he is a man, and not the child he seems. Such a person was in the audience Sunday night and his companion was forced to provide proof from other members of the theater party before he could be convinced that the Colonial was not violating the law in regard to children appearing on the stage.

Joseph Cawthorne was never better than in his present role. He has been guilty of being a little tiresome in one or two plays in which he has figured in recent years, but no such charge can be made in regard to his Dr. Pill in Little Nemo.

Harry Kelley resembles the Harry Kelley who made His Honor the Mayor such a hit, yet he contributes more to the comedy of the production at the Colonial and is probably doing the best work in his career.

Billy B. Van, as Flip, smokes a long cigar and has the audience laughing from the first puff. His role is that of a near-villain, but the comedy predominates sufficiently to make the audience his friends.

The comedy provided for this quartette of comedians is commendable. It is really refreshing; a remark which does not describe too much of the material provided for principal comedians in musical comedy. The zouave scene is a clever idea and Cawthorne, Kelley and Van get a great deal out of it. The high finance methods introduced in the weather room of Flip's uncle will no doubt live in burlesque and in the musical comedies playing the dollar houses for seasons to come. The stories of hunting prove a great improvement on similar gags which have been offered comedy seekers and the trio are so evenly balanced from a standpoint of producing fun that it is impossible to name a favorite.

Louis Hart and Slim Collins, a well known variety team, do a wrestling match in the Olympian games which is wonderful in itself, but the "largeness" of the production makes it forgotten with the confusion of fun and music.

Dave Ahrams represents a cat, a squirrel and a bear in different scenes, and each offering is an evidence of his wonderful ability in this line.

The girls of Little Nemo are an important adjunct to the performance, but no role stands out prominently enough to be worthy of extended notice. Almee Erlich as the little Princess is attractive. Elphye Snowden dances cleverly and secures her share of applause. Katherine Bell is much in evidence but always welcome. Mabel Berra sings well and appeals to the beauty lover, while Rose Beaumont proves a rather careless although attentive mother to Little Nemo.

The Colonial was crowded Sunday night and there is no reason why the same state of affairs should not prevail until the engagement is concluded.—E. E. M.

H. H. FRAZEE APPEARS IN A DIFFERENT ROLE.

The Theatrical Manager Bobs Up as Manager of a Prize Fighter Who Would Contest with Champion.

H. H. Frazee, manager of half a dozen successful musical comedies, bobbed up in a new light last week when James J. Corbett announced that he would like to meet Jack Johnson, for the newspapers now refer to Frazee as Corbett's manager.

Frazee undertook more than he thought when he became the manager of James J. Corbett. He is not undaunted by the widening of the scope of his activities, however, and it is said he is rather anxious for the match, although Corbett has been a money maker when appearing in the play, Facing the Music. Business has not been exceptionally good this season in certain parts of the country and it is remarkable that Facing the Music did not have a single losing night during a month spent where other attractions have found business very bad.

Frazee left last week for Indianapolis to have a consultation with Corbett. The Chicago American stated that Frazee went to Indianapolis after $1,000 forfeit money and would hurry right back with it. There is no question but that Frazee's time is too valuable to run down to the Indiana city and back just to get a thousand dollars. It is certain he had other reasons for the journey.

Frazee began as a lithographer in a theater in a central Illinois city. He ventured on the road as advance agent for Uncle Joseph Spruceby and later became the partner of Dave Lewis. A few years ago he ventured into the managerial game on his own hook. He has been remarkably successful and will have a theater in Chicago next season if present plans materialize. Mr. Frazee is closely connected with John Cort in a business way.

New Theaterium for Chicago.

Jones, Linnick & Shaefer Company will build a handsome new theater at 379 and 381 North avenue, just east of Sedgwick street, for which they have just acquired a site on a long term lease. The building will cost $100,000. They have leased from Ludwig Schindler the land at that place, 61x214 feet, for twenty-five years from the time when the building shall have been completed, about October 1. The aggregate rental for the term is $130,000, being at the rate of $5,200 annually. The lease requires that the building cost not less than $60,000.

MANTELL IN NEW YORK AHEAD OF E. H. SOTHERN

Appearance of the Two Stars Leads to Comment on the "Painful Incompetence" of Some of Former's Associates.

Robert Mantell is now appearing in New York, rushed there, it is intimated in some quarters, by the syndicate, that he might surfeit Broadway with Shakespeare before E. H. Sothern, who plays the Shubert circuit, arrived. The syndicate had possibly learned that Mr. Sothern was to open at Daly's March 29.

The Mantell engagement does not appear to have been a wonderful success in spite of the fact that special prices were fixed for those who would represent that they were connected with certain schools by which two dollar seats were obtainable at greatly reduced prices.

Mantell's plays were presented with the elaborate scenic adornment displayed in Chicago earlier in the season and when King John was offered many critics found fault with the players who surround the William A. Brady star. This aroused the anger of William A. Winter, who insists that the performance can be enjoyed notwithstanding the painful incompetence of several of Mr. Mantell's associates.

Some one in New York was led to remark that even so great an actor as Edwin Booth made a practice of traveling with an inferior support, and this led Mr. Winter to say that Booth had very little voice in the selection of his support; that was attended to by his managers, and, later, by Lawrence Barrett. Edwin Booth, as Mr. Winter says, had no fear of others, and he acted with Davison, Janauschek, Charlotte Cushman, Modjeska, Salvini and Irving and Terry. In this respect he resembled Richard Mansfield, who often was accustomed to say to his people: "Act with all the power that is in you. Don't mind me. If you can take the scene from me, do it. I shall not say a word."

Mr. Winter does not relish some of the criticisms made upon Mr. Mantell's acting, but says "youth must be served"; the youthful critics of New York, never having seen any really good tragic acting, are scarcely in a position to judge. Mr. Mantell, on the other hand, is an actor of long experience and has played every line of business, and is the one conspicuous actor on the American stage who is carrying the standard of acting, presenting great characters in great plays, in spite of obstacles. There are, indeed, defects in his performances, Mr. Winter concedes, but there are also "five distinct spots on the sun."

The controversy is rather amusing, especially as it is pointed out that William Winter edited the plays used by Mr. Mantell and naturally is somewhat favorably prejudiced.

That Mr. Mantell is a great actor it is foolish for any one to deny. That the honor of being the great American actor lies between him and E. H. Sothern is not so generally admitted, but is a statement worth thinking about.

It is rather peculiar to find that the manager of Robert Mantell, exponent of all that is best in the theater, is also the manager who is offering the moving pictures of the Johnson-Burns fight at the Auditorium in Chicago this week.

JURY DISAGREES WHEN CLEO WAS ARRAIGNED.

The jury that heard the testimony in Municipal Judge Cottrell's court in the case in which L. M. Weingarten, manager of the Trocadero theater, was charged with producing an improper performance in the dance by Cleo Corlette, "the Original Girl in Red," failed to reach an agreement after eight hours' discussion and was discharged. The jury reported to Judge Cottrell that it stood six to six. "Cleo" was twice arraigned in the same court on a similar charge and in each instance the jury disagreed.

W. J. Blunkall, formerly connected with stock companies at Oakland and San Jose, Cal., is here on business connected with two vaudeville acts which he controls.

Irene August, a society woman, has joined the Thanhouser stock company at the Bush Temple. She resides with her mother at the Kenwood Hotel on the South Side.

Leila Shaw will have the part of Ray Mac Chesney in The Three of Us at the Marlowe next week and as it is one of the most exacting parts ever written, she is hard at work this week.

Joseph F. Sheehan and his company, who appeared for a fortnight at the American Music Hall, are laying off here this week before beginning the tour of eastern vaudeville houses.

George Harris had the cartoon which appeared in The Missouri Breeze a short time ago, enlarged and presented the drawing to William Roche, who was pictured as one of the mourners at the decease of melodrama.

Harry Von Tilzer arrived in Chicago last Thursday, accompanied by Al Doyle, his pianist, and spent a few days in visiting before he opened at the American. He is stopping at the Sherman House.

Eddie Hume and Francis Cossar, who are with The Flower of the Ranch, reside in this city and are spending the week at their home. Mr. Hume has the principal comedy role in the musical comedy which is proving a great drawing card at the National this week.

Dick Carroll is a very busy man. He has rewritten The Alaskan, will be principal comedian of the musical comedy and will stage it at the Great Northern. He was busy Monday engaging the girls and on Tuesday the rehearsals began.

Laura Rolfe, formerly of Flemen Rolfe, is now doing a single act under the management of Edward Marsh of the Independent Booking Office. He is negotiating with the management of a successful musical comedy for the mezzo soprano part for Miss Rolfe.

Cella Mavis, leading woman in Reality which was produced at the Star theater last week, slipped on the sidewalk at Clark street and Chicago avenue and broke her right arm in two places. Miss Mavis, who is 27 years old, has been in this country only a month, coming from Sidney, Australia. She resides at 20 North Clark.

Fred Burns is appearing at the American Music Hall this week and when typographical error in the Sunday Evening Star made the name read Fred Barnes, it was concluded that a well known book agent was to make his debut in vaudeville. Two young ladies went to the Monday matinee with large bouquets and were much disappointed when their favorite did not appear.

PICTURE ORDINANCE PASSED IN FRISCO

Rigid Regulation of Theatroriums Finds Objectors Among the Board of Supervisors and the Exhibitors.

San Francisco, March 18.

A new ordinance, which was passed by the board of supervisors this week, provides many stringent rules for the regulation of local theatroriums, and it was objected to by Supervisors Hocks and Murdock on the grounds that it was too rigid, while Attorney F. V. Meyers, who claimed to represent sixty nickelodeons, which consisted of a combined capitalization of $1,000,000, put in a strenuous objection to the penal clause, providing that a fine of not less than $100 and the judicial, or violation of the ordinance, be imposed for violation of the ordinance, but the only change to which the board consented was one providing that the law take effect thirty days after its passage, and the law was passed to print with an amendment so providing.

The ordinance provides that all nickelodeons seating 400 or more people shall be governed by "theater law," and must be housed in class A fireproof buildings. Establishments of a lesser capacity, if within the fire limits, must be of class A, class B or class C construction. At least five exits are required for every nickelodeon, no matter where located or how small its seating capacity, and there are also strict requirements as to aisles.

The law is effective April 22.—MALLABAR.

MOVING PICTURES ARE STAGE PRODUCTIONS

Far Reaching Decision Handed Down by the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals Against The Kalem Company.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals has handed down a decision which will seriously affect the production of moving pictures, in that it has determined that moving pictures are to be classed as "stage productions" and are within the full legal meaning of that term and are therefore amenable to the penalties provided by the copyright laws against infringement.

This is to say that moving picture manufacturers may no longer "lift" scenes from copyrighted plays, whether bodily or in part and that their productions in future must be absolutely original.

Professional picture producers as well as play producers will tell you that it is next to impossible to be absolutely original, in that every drama which has ever been written is based upon certain identical elements, and that the variation of these is limited in quantity.

The decision was handed down in the case of Harper and Brothers and Klaw and Erlanger against the Kalem company, to enjoin the latter from producing "Ben Hur" in films. This is said to be one of the finest films ever produced by the Kalem company, and its cost is rumored to have been well up in the thousands. The defence put in by the manufacturers was that the scenes had been taken from Lew Wallace's book, and that the representation was only "an exhibition of pictures" and not a dramatic performance within the meaning of the copyright law.

New Ordinance for Dubuque.
Dubuque, Ia., March 23.

The Dubuque city council has decided to regulate the moving pictures of that city. Two ordinances have been passed looking to that end. One provides for the licensing of operators and the other relates to the safety of machines. It provides that they must be equipped with automatic take-ups and adjustable rolls, and that the fire shut-off shall also be automatic. Rheostats must also be 12 inches from the floor or other combustible material, and the whole is to be subject to regular inspection by the city electrician.—GEO. C. TUCKER.

LOCAL MUSIC LOVERS HAIL NEW ORCHESTRA

Advent of Philharmonic Organization, Under Leadership of Chevalier Emanuel, A Highly Important Event.

The appearance of a new grand orchestra of 100 pieces, numbering among its members four score of the best known musicians in Chicago, is an event of the first importance in the city's artistic and social life, more especially when the conductor is the Chevalier Emanuel, a most profound musical scholar and one of the foremost of living orchestra directors.

The organization's initial bow to the Chicago public was made at the Auditorium, where it appeared at the Actors' Benefit performance in response to the request of Daniel Frohman, strongly urged by him.

At the conclusion of the orchestral number on the program, Mr. Frohman was enthusiastic in his praise, and thanked the Chevalier and his men warmly. That his judgment of good music is first-class

WILL BUILD THEATER IF HE IS ENCOURAGED

Leopold Levy, of New Orleans, has Desire to Erect Another Playhouse in the Louisiana Metropolis.

New Orleans, La., March 22. New Orleans will soon have another new theater—a $200,000 structure—if Leopold Levy, banker, capitalist and real estate dealer can interest the theatrical syndicate to come here and lease the new house. He says he will build the house if he can get someone to lease it.

The site in mind is 100 feet front by 1 feet deep, and will make a good location for a theater, provided the right show are produced in it. Mr. Levy says will begin at once if he can make arrangements, as he believes New Orleans can support another playhouse.

It is understood that Mr. Levy is in communication with several persons regarding the construction of his new theater. He has recently assumed control of the Victor theater, a moving picture house, also showing vaudeville acts. Mr. Levy, his son, will act as manager MILLER.

Mr. Brown, who was accompanied by his wife and little boy, have many friends in New Orleans, who were glad to see them back in town. Mr. and Mrs. Brown, together with Sarah Perry, who plays the part of the wife, and Mrs. Matt Snyder, also in the cast, were entertained at dinner Friday night by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard C. Shields. The limits of the Shields' acquaintance in the theatrical world seems almost limitless, and many stars, as well as vaudeville performers, hotel-riden, have been glad to accept an invitation that would admit them within the hospitable precincts of "Bohemia."—MILLER.

Adelaide Nowak Injured.

Columbus, Ohio, March 22. Adelaide Nowak, a member of Olga Netherlands's company, was badly injured here Sunday morning by being thrown from a cab while en route to the union station. She insisted on continuing her trip to Cincinnati after the accident, and on her arrival in that city was taken to a hospital where she was given medical attention. It was found that her shoulder was fractured and her neck and back bruised. Her part will be taken by her understudy, Florence Hackett, until she is able to resume.—GRAF.

Faith Healer Produced.

St. Louis, Mo., March 17. Henry Miller presented The Faith Healer, the latest play from the pen of William Vaughn Moody, at the Century theater Monday night for first time on any stage. Dramatically, the play was a success in many ways, but as far as the box office is concerned it is feared it will fail.

no one will gainsay, and that the musical critics were equally well pleased is evidenced by their comments. Here are a few quotations:

"The Philharmonic Orchestra scored an instantaneous and deserved success. There was a surprising finish to its work, which speaks volumes for the efficiency of its leader, Chevalier Emanuel. There are many good musicians in its ranks, and its leader is a musician of distinction, authority and long experience."—E. M. Latimer in the Chicago Journal.

"The newly organized Philharmonic Orchestra had its first public hearing yesterday afternoon at the Actors' Fund Benefit, and created a very favorable impression. Although the orchestra has been in rehearsal under the Chevalier N. B. Emanuel's able baton only two months, it presented Liszt's difficult symphonic poem, Les Preludes, with admirable precision in all entrances, nicely judged manipulation of dynamic contrasts and well balanced tonal volume. There should be a place in the musical life of Chicago for such an organization as the Philharmonic Orchestra, and there is every reason to wish it well."—Charles W. Collins, in the Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"The music was superb. The new Philharmonic Orchestra, under the direction of Chevalier Emanuel, proved a surprise and a glory, notwithstanding its costly and eloquent promises. It waved a magic wand over everything and its symphonic selections, overtures and dignified assistance gave backbone and fiber to the entertainment most august and enchanting."—Amy Leslie, in the Chicago Daily News.

Mr. W. E. Fuller, widely known in professional circles, is the business manager for the orchestra. Herbert Butler, concert master, and in their roster is found the following well known names:

Clarinet—E. E. Harder, C. Yonge; Bassoons—H. Schaub, V. Pezzi; French Horns—F. Kryl, J. Kolatza, F. Chapek, F. G. C. Babbe; Trumpets—J. B. Hoffman, A. F. Ziehm, E. J. Williams, C. A. Cook; Trombones—A. E. Clark, D. M. Snyder, C. Braun; Tuba—Geo. Hamburg; Timpani—W. Ludwig; Drums, etc.—T. Ludwig, A. Hiltmeier, A. Layfield, J. Libonati.

A Real Live Baby.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 22. A good program of vaudeville and pictures is being presented this week at the Lyceum. On Wednesday evening the management will give away a live baby to the person holding the lucky coupon. The conditions will be that the person winning the child must show that he will adopt it, give it a good home and support it. This will be the first of the "Novelty Nights," which will be given every Wednesday evening. Amateurs will have their night as usual on Friday. The vaudeville bill, commencing with the matinee today, has among its features Gardner, West and Sunshine, novelty sketch artists; Mack and Dugals and company in the scenic novelty, Grit's Thanksgiving, M. Samaya, the European gymnast. New illustrated songs and new motion pictures will complete the program. Bookings by the Gus Sun Circuit.—CLARENCE E. RUNEY.

Sold Out When Doors Opened.

Quincy, Ill., March 23. This city has had what might be termed a sensational run of business at the Empire. A little later The Mimic World, with Gertrude Hoffman did the same thing.—SCHOENEMAN.

THE CHILD LABOR LAW A NUISANCE TO STAGE.

Instance of Salvation Nell Quoted to Prove Demerit of Existing Legislation.

That the average law does not know where it will strike—an example, in fact, of the absolute blindness of justice—the case of Mrs. Fiske and her production of Salvation Nell in Chicago may be cited as an instance.

Mrs. Fiske, until she came into the state of Illinois, had employed a child—well, it may have been ten or twelve, but it was playing the part of a seven-year-old. When the actress entered this state, however, she was compelled to substitute a child of sixteen, thus avoiding the penalty of the Illinois child labor law but at the same time ruining the story of the play, wherein the child of seven was vital to the plot. Regarding this point Mrs. Fiske said:

"In the event of the non-amendment of the child labor law, as that law relates to the appearance of children upon the stage, it may be well to consider what this prohibition will mean to the Chicago theater as an institution.

"It will mean for one thing that many of the plays of Shakespeare, Ibsen, Hauptmann, Maeterlinck, Sudermann, d'Annunzio, Pinero and Barrie will be banished from the local stage.

"It is impossible to believe that the thinking public of Chicago will tolerate such a belittlement of ideals as they concern the nobler dramatic literature. The banishment of plays by these masters surely would not reflect the art spirit of Chicago.

"That there are forms of theatrical entertainment in which children should have no place all intelligent men and women will heartily agree. That there are theatrical organizations utterly pernicious and demoralizing we are all aware. Children should certainly be protected from association with these organizations.

FLACK AND FIELDS IN FISTIC ENCOUNTER.

Manager and Stage Manager of The Babes in Toyland Engage in Fight and Ed Redway Leaves the Show.

With an audience of chorus girls and stage hands spurring them on to battle, Manager W. E. Flack and his stage manager, George Fields, had a fist fight during a rehearsal of Babes in Toyland at the Clunie theater in Sacramento, Cal.

Flack stepped forward to give some directions while the rehearsal was in progress and the stage manager, believing himself to be in absolute charge, told Flack to get out. Flack replied with a swing on the nose. The blow did not cause Field much injury but served to make him quite indignant. Flack then apologized, it is reported, and it was agreed that it would be best to prevent future troubles by making some changes. So Fields left the show, and the comedian, Ed Redway, who was the origin of some ill feeling, was let go at the same time. Redway returned to New York.

Babes in Toyland has not had a pleasant journey this winter. There has been discord all season. Chorus girls who left Chicago to join the show often came back in remarkably short time and no one seemed to regret leaving the organization.

Brooks Goes to Pittsburg.

DREW AND CAMPBELL NOW CONTROL WINNIPEG.

Stock House to Turn to Legitimate, Dominion May Book Big Vaudeville and the Grand Is to Play Burlesque.

Winnipeg, Can., March 19. The further details regarding the acquisition of the Winnipeg, Dominion and Grand theaters here have just come to light. Although the entire deal was consummated in the greatest secrecy it leaked out earlier last week that Messrs. Drew & Campbell were contemplating the control of these theaters. W. T. Campbell has been in this city for a week or more, and, although he is still reticent regarding the plans of his firm it is conceded that it is their intention to turn the Winnipeg, which is now a stock house, into legitimate drama, while the Dominion, where popular priced vaudeville now prevails, will probably be included in one of the larger vaudeville circuits of the east, while the Grand will be given over to melodrama or burlesque, and whichever is decided upon, will meet a high standard.

The Dominion theater has been in operation in Winnipeg for approximately five years and now ranks as one of the best houses on the Orpheum circuit. It is under the management at the present time of G. A. Kobold and on several occasions since it commenced operation improvements have been made in the bills so that now it ranks most favorably with metropolitan centers.

The Grand theater was erected last fall and opened with Belasco's Rose of the Rancho Christmas week. Since then it has had three managers and Wedgwood Nowell, the leading man of the company, has been manager for the past couple of months and had put on a good list of attractions. The members of the company have all been given notice that their contracts are to be terminated.

A. Melville, Chas. Gates and W. P. Alsip are at present the principal directors of the Grand theater and under the new arrangement they will continue to have a voice in the affairs of the newly organized merger.

Actress Accused of Spoiling a Home.

Denver, Colo., March 24.

Josephine Wheeler, who says she is 22 years of age and an actress, is incarcerated in the House of the Good Shepherd here, charged with breaking up a home, although it is possible that the only change which will be made against her will be that of vagrancy in the attempt of the state to have her placed in jail for thirty days. She is said to have inveigled Mrs. Esther Williams, aged 17, into leaving her husband.

Gillette Plays Hartford.

Hartford, Conn., March 19.

To a crowded house, William Gillette played Samson at Warson's theater to-night, for the first time in this city. So great was the applause after the second act that eleven curtain calls were registered by the star. The actor positively refused to step away from his character and thereby disappointed many who looked forward to a few words from their "home-actor."—HARRIS.

THE GIRL IN BLUE PRODUCES NEW DANCE.

Manager of the Opposition House, a Half Block Away, Agrees It Is a Big Hit.

The two letters printed below came to this office and they tell an unusual story. The manager of an opposition theater actually has good words for the extra feature at the competitive house. But read them:

Philadelphia, Pa., March 20.

Editor, SHOW WORLD:

Millie De Leon, the Girl in Blue, took Philadelphia by storm this past week with her new dance called "Live Wire." The Bijou theater never saw such crowds since the house has been built, and I cheerfully say Miss De Leon is one of the greatest drawing cards in America.

If Miss De Leon was not all booked up I would keep her here for a run, and I know that she could have packed the house for a month at least.

Yours truly,

Sam Dawson,
Mgr. Bijou Theater.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 19.

Editor, SHOW WORLD:

Millie De Leon, the Girl in Blue, played against my theater this week, and I will say that there never has been an extra attraction that has hurt the Gayety theater as the Girl in Blue has done this week by playing opposition house at the Bijou theater, two doors from the Gayety. I tried to get Miss De Leon to play with me next week, but she is all booked up. I will say that I take off my hat to the Girl in Blue, the greatest drawing card in America, and she deserves all the newspaper notoriety that the newspapers in Philadelphia are giving her this week.

Yours truly,

Edward Shayne,
Mgr. Gayety Theater.

UNVEILED SALOMES TO RECEIVE DESERTS.

Webster City, Ia., March 25.

Unveiled Salomes or kinks that are too high or a really old, worn-out bun joke that can't come up to the standard of decency, are to cost $1,000 each or a year in jail in Iowa. And if the girl who does all this gets fussy with the judge, she may get both. That's the penalty attached to the showing of immodest maids before the footlights or the cracking of improper jokes, in the Dowell-Saunders bill presented to the Iowa legislature. It makes the producer, agent, performer, manager and opera house owner all liable.—TUCKER.

Proposed Legislation in Missouri.

The bill requires all theater managers to display upon request their bookings.

Last Saturday night the gross was $3,110. The gross never netted quite $3,000 for a performance during the New York performance.

ROSSOW MUST DIVIDE WITH HIS MIDGETS.

New York, March 23.

In the Supreme Court Justice Dowling directed that the sum of $14,000, for which Carl and Franz Achternor, better known as the Rossow Midgets, sued Herman Rossow, be divided between Rossow and the midgets, Rossow to receive one-half and the two brothers the other.

Rossow had discovered the midgets in Germany, and beside a stipulated sum he was to pay to their parents and to the midgets, he agreed to hold out a part of their earnings, which was to come to them after his death. This was deposited in several banks and when the midgets broke their contract with Rossow he attempted to draw the money. The midgets had levied upon it. The suit followed.

JAMES YOUNG ROASTS BALTIMORE AUDIENCE

Shubert Attraction Fails to Draw Big Houses at a Stair & Havlin Theater and Actor Grows Petulant.

Is Baltimore a good "show town?" Everyone in Baltimore seems to think it is.

Some managers who have played their attractions there this season think it isn't.

Some managers who have played there in former years think it isn't.

James Young, seen there recently in Brown of Harvard, is certain it isn't.

All this is suggested by the fact that some visiting actors have become so disgruntled when playing Baltimore this season that they have scolded the audience from the stage. Such an action is always in poor taste, but when the step is taken it is generally after the city has shown itself to be unappreciative either in attendance at the theater or in attention once that the patrons have filled the house.

James Young is the latest of the disgruntled thespians to break loose in criticism verging on invective. He appeared at the Auditorium week before last.

From the tenor of Mr. Young's remarks he seemed disappointed at not drawing capacity. Evidently he expected that when a Shubert company played a Stair & Havlin house under the new arrangement the amusement lovers would pack the theater to the doors. The absence of the S. R. O. sign in Baltimore disproved this idea, and Mr. Young was naturally disappointed.

Henry Woodruff, who is now at the Princess in Chicago, appeared in Baltimore last season in Brown of Harvard and had good business, according to Manager Maurice J. Lehmyer, of the Academy.

Such outbreaks of temper are ill-advised, even though James Young follows in the footsteps of leading stars in "roasting" Baltimore. The late Richard Mansfield let himself out on one occasion, and even gentle Ethel Barrymore has voiced her protest at what she styles Baltimore's "inattention." Chauncey Olcott recently complained that he was greeted with laughter when he had "tried to draw tears," and Pauline, the hypnotist, was led to say things which were so offensive that James L. Kernan had him pulled off the Maryland theater stage.

Fred Schanberger, of the Maryland theater, right hand man to James L. Kernan, said, when discussing these things: "Such outbreaks happen on the spur of the moment, and are invariably regretted by the actor or actress who makes the break. Of course, were the slightest intimation given that an actor intended to lecture his audience, no manager would permit it, and such outbreaks are always followed by warnings against a repetition."

Charles T. Ford, remarked: "To an unbiased mind, such outbreaks seem simply attributable to conditions. If an actor has a good house he is pleased and voices his gratification; if the house is a poor one, he may lose his temper and say things which he later regrets. It is only a case of temper and temperament."

Al H. Wilson lost admirers through the South earlier this season by roasting those who attended his performance because others were not there. One of the Larue Brothers found himself in a town without street cars this year and roasted it from the stage because the Larue Brothers Minstrels were not better patronized. If he derived any benefit from his action it has not yet been ascertained.

The city council of Terre Haute, Ind., has passed an ordinance imposing a license fee of $250 a year on theaters which charge more than $1, $150 on those charging from 25 cents to $1, $50 on those charging less than 25 cents, and $150 for amusement parks.

MRS. JACK HAVERLY ILL IN SMALL HOME.

Broken Down by Long Fight for Existence Since her Husband's Death, She Is Now in Want.

After a seven years' struggle against poverty and starvation. Mrs. Jack Haverly, widow of the minstrel, has at last succumbed to the strain. For the past few weeks she has been very ill at No. 208 West Forty-second street, New York, where she lives with her daughter in two rooms. Her condition was made known by Milton Roblec, who has befriended her since her husband's death, and who promptly notified Sam Harris and other managers.

Since Jack Haverly's death in 1901 Mrs. Haverly has had an uphill fight. The former minstrel king left his widow penniless. He had sunk his fortune in mines, and a law suit and some valueless mining stock was his family's only inheritance.

For seven years Mrs. Haverly sold cold cream and cosmetics at the stage doors. The managers gave her a tardy recognition. Aside from extending the privilege of the stage entrance, their encouragement was not over-generous. The law suit her husband left her finally yielded $2,000 a few months ago.

The struggle, however, had exhausted her. A collapse came after a number of warnings, and she has been under constant care since. The managers who erected a monument to her husband's memory in Philadelphia a few months ago have come to her assistance, and a plan is on foot to make her last years comfortable.

THE RETURN OF EVE IS A QUEER NEW DRAMA.

Bertha Galland Appearing in New York with a Company Including Lester Lonergan and Other Favorites.

Bertha Galland produced The Return of Eve at the Herald Square theater in New York last week and the very unusualness of the plot and general theme makes the event an interesting one to the student of the drama. Lee Wilson Dodd is the author of the play, which is in three acts.

An eccentric millionaire, Eli Tupper, takes it into his head to rear a boy and girl, who are no relation, in a lonely spot, something like a wilderness, and he names the place Eden. The children are called Adam and Eve and grow up "close to nature."

Tupper leaves his fortune to the pair when death comes, and as Adam and Eve know nothing about money an agent it is the desire of Tupper that Eve see named Winters is made their guardian. New York and she is turned loose there with a million or so to spend. She is thrown into the whirl of society and when her money is gone she has obtained wisdom, and concludes that Eden is the place for her.

Adam awaits her in Eden. He has not ventured away in search of false gods.

Prominent in Miss Galland's support are Lester Lonergan, Frank Losee, Richard Buhler, Maude Turner Gordon, Falcon Campbell and Kate Rolla, formerly an operatic singer at the Metropolitan opera house in New York.

PROFESSIONALS LIKE THE AMERICAN HOTEL.

St. Louis Hostelry Modern in Every Respect and Exactly Suited to the Wants of the Performer.

The performers who play St. Louis generally stop at the American hotel and the merits of the hostelry are one of the chief topics of conversation when several of them gather together in Chicago for a little chat.

The New American Hotel in St. Louis adjoins the American theater and is said to be the most perfectly arranged hotel for professionals ever erected in the United States. There are 275 rooms with baths, 25 of them at $1 a day, 100 rooms at $1.50 per day, 75 rooms at $2 per day, 50 rooms at $2.50 per day.

The hotel is a modern one in every respect with double doors between each room, circulating ice water in every room, rapid elevator service, what is said to be the finest buffet west of New York, a richly appointed rathsheller, a ladies' reception room, a ladies tea room and a telephone in every room.

THE SHUBERT DEAL WAS NOT EVEN DISCUSSED.

Conference of Theatrical Men with Executor of the Estate of F. W. Chamberlain, But No Action Taken.

Quincy, Ill., March 22.

Manager Busby, of the Empire, who is one of the directors and owners of Iowa-Ilinois circuit, which the Shuberts were after, returned last week from Burlington, where, together with S. B. Harrington, of Peoria; Charles Kindt, of Davenport, and several others, held a consultation with F. E. Blake, executor of the estate of the late F. W. Chamberlain, who was the chief owner of the circuit. Manager Busby says the Shubert deal was not discussed, further than that bookings would be accepted, and that the meeting was merely to discuss matters of interest to the Iowa-Ilinois circuit.—SCHOENEMAN.

Crosby Is Manager.

Chatham, Ont., March 18.

William Crosby, a black face comedian well known throughout Canada, has been appointed manager of Briscoe's Opera house here. The seating capacity is about 1,400, and has one of the finest stages for vaudeville in the country.

The vaudeville is booked by the Griffin Amusement Company of Toronto, Ont., which is the largest booking company in Canada.—WALMSLEY.

Janesville to Have Sunday Shows.

Janesville, Wis., March 18.

The first company to play the Myers theater on Sunday was Jeanie Fletcher Concert Company. This company played to a very large house, and looks like this city is well pleased with plays on Sunday. Miss Fletcher was the head liner and much was expected of her, but, despite the large expectations, her work proved a keen realization of the anticipations. Miss Fletcher is known as "the world's greatest Scottish singer." Her presentation of the well known Scottish ballads was most pleasing. The singer pays unusual attention to expression and to the sweetness and smoothness of tone, and it is to that rather than to the range and volume of her voice that she owes her success.

Miss Veronica Ferguson, the pleasing violinist was found to be exceptionally fine. She is an artist of the highest order, and her rendition of the several difficult instrumental numbers was most capable. The singing of Marlus Libby was one of the most enjoyable features of the recital.—SMITH.

Home Talent Takes Road.

Carthage, Mo., March 18.

Under the Spell, by a home talent company, played to a good house at the Grand Saturday evening. The company will play the small cities of the mineral belt in the near future. The Morgan stock company are at the Grand this week.

EDITORIAL.

We have coined a new adjective. It describes our policy, and, since our policy is our own, the descriptive must needs be of our own make.

We have been informed from time to time that "the trouble with you fellows is that no one ever knows whether you are going up or coming down."

That's what we mean by an elevatorial policy. We won't stay "put."

We are not in business to play favorites. The only true friendships we desire are those of our public. We refuse to permit individuals and amusement combinations to dictate what we shall or shall not print. They have tried it and they have failed. They may try it again. They will fail again. We do not want any faction to know whether we are going up or coming down—whether we are for or against their interest.

What we know, and what you know, is that there are dishonesties in many departments of the profession of entertainment. They have existed so long that most persons have come to accept them as unchangeable conditions.

We stand for the truth—for morality—for the uplift and progress of amusements. Whether we can accomplish much or little toward the righting of existing wrongs, does not matter to us. We know that we must accomplish something worth while, and to those who are on the right side of any question—to those who are conducting legitimate enterprises—to those who have more faith in principle than in petty personalities, there is no mystery in our methods.

To those who believe we should shield them in a nefarious livelihood; to those who would stoop beneath fair means in the making of money, and to those who are under the impression that our columns can be bought and sold like so much merchandise, our policy is now and ever will be elevatorial.

The Chevalier N. B. Emanuel.

The portrait on the first page of this week's issue of THE SHOW WORLD is that of the Chevalier Emanuel, one of the commanding figures among our masters of music, the director of Chicago's new Philharmonic Orchestra of one hundred members.

Chevalier Emanuel was born a subject of the Queen, at Birmingham, England, his parents moving to Germany while the future maestro was still of tender age. His genius manifested itself early and at the age of fifteen he entered the Leipzig Conservatory where his musical education was completed under Reinecke, Hauptman, Richter and the great Moscheles, perhaps the most famous and capable quartette of instructors this age has ever known. Upon his graduation he at once entered upon his career, conducting grand opera at Stockholm and Helsingfors. Called to Russia, where his fame had preceded him, after a concert tour of that country with Henri Wieniawski and Madame Artot Padella, he was appointed First Conductor of the Imperial Opera at Moscow, where he remained for fifteen years, his labors being of the most arduous character, instructing choral societies and symphony orchestras as well as conducting grand opera.

Deciding to travel and see the world he accepted an offer to tour Italy, Holland, France, Portugal and part of South America, and shortly before the termination of this engagement his services were secured by Henry W. Savage, of New York, whose well-known musical productions he directed for five years in the United States.

The Chevalier then accepted a proposition strongly urged upon him to organize and instruct the St. Paul Symphony Orchestra which he launched upon its highly successful artistic career. Coming to Chicago in the fall of 1908 to become identified with a movement towards grand opera here and the then proposed Philharmonic Orchestra.

Personally the Chevalier Emanuel is a charming character, social, affable, a gentleman of distinction and authority, speaking six languages and eloquent in all of them. His advent in Chicago is a matter of great interest in musical circles.

The new Philharmonic Orchestra will contain one hundred members.

Park Managers' Catalog.

The catalog issued by the National Park Managers' Association for the season of 1909, is a highly interesting booklet, full of live information regarding the coming park and fair months and profusely illustrated.

The N. P. M. A. was formed by men financially interested in amusement parks in the United States and Canada, the object of the organization being to serve its members and all owners of amusement parks in any capacity or in any emergency that may arise.

J. J. Weaver, 1402 Broadway, New York, is president, A. S. McSwigan, of Pittsburg, is vice president, and Glen E. Black, of Cincinnati, is secretary-treasurer.

The association numbers among its members and directors many of the leading park and fair men of North America.

Our San Francisco Correspondent.

William L. Mallabar of the San Francisco Chronicle staff has been appointed to succeed Irving J. Wilson as our representative in that city. Any attention shown him by managers and professionals will be highly appreciated. Mr. Mallabar is a thorough newspaper man, and will maintain the San Francisco news service at a high standard of excellence.

A. L. Erlanger is quoted as saying that things have been much better in the business since the formation of the Syndicate in 1896. Small town managers please write.

It is said that M. Meyerfield Jr. fathered the bill just passed in Frisco which practically puts a majority of the moving picture houses in that city out of business.

The habit which some actors have of "roasting" their audiences in certain speeches will reach a climax some of these days, when some audience will arise en masse and sizzle the star.

Married on Vaudeville Stage.

Cadillac, Mich., March 11, 1909. Editor THE SHOW WORLD.

In your edition of March 6, I see an account of a wedding taking place on the stage of the Arcade in Toledo, Ohio, claiming that it was the only bona fide wedding taken place on a vaudeville stage in America.

Let me contradict this, as I myself, was married to Miss Rhoda Eugene Skelchu on the stage of the Alnu theater in this city on the night of October 31, 1908, in view of the audience, which was a capacity house. Justice of the Peace Gustafson officiated. I hold the position of stage manager here in this house, and have been with Mr. Campbell a long time. The team of Devine and Palmer stood up with us at the wedding.

AL G. RICHARDSON, Alnu Theater.

Laura Jaffries and the English Rocking Chair Girls, are booked to play the Mozart theater at Braddock, Pa., next week.

Blamphin & Hehr are at the Palace in Philadelphia this week and play the Grand in Mt. Carmel, Pa., next week.

The Deike Sisters closed on the Mozart time at Braddock, Pa., and came to Chicago to join the Barnum show.

Mabel Carew and Lucian Kesney will dissolve partnership and work separately when they complete the Mozart time already contracted.

The Goyt Trio is at Elmira, N. Y., this week.

The Three Bohemians play Elmira, N. Y., next week and open on western time April 5.

MARRIAGES

Selwyn-Bernstein. — Archibald Selwyn and Viola Bernstein were united in marriage in Philadelphia March 13.

Hicks-Lytell. — Harry Hicks, of the Bijou stock company, and Pearl Lytell, of The Cowboy and the Squaw, were united in marriage in Chicago last Sunday. They are stopping at the Rosina Flats.

Gross-Grace. — Mrs. Nellie Grace, who was formerly a member of the Londale Theatrical Company, and who was recently divorced at Sioux Falls, has married William B. Gross, a traveling salesman for a St. Paul wholesale house. They will live in the Twin Cities. — FOSTER.

Finney-Lowry. — Hazel Lowry, of Jackson, Ohio, formerly understudy of Edna Wallace Hopper in Fifty Miles from Boston and who toured the country as leading lady in the same company the early part of this season, was quietly married March 15 to Emory Olin Finney, 2032 Michigan avenue, Chicago, Ill. The ceremony was performed at the Presbyterian Church at Jackson, Ohio, by the Rev. M. L. Tressler. Only members of the bride's immediate family were present. Mr. Finney is a son of Edwin Finney and wife of Chicago, and is engaged in the advertising business. The couple will reside in Chicago.

Huss-Wyland. — Forced to leave Lima, Ohio, last Sunday with his company, before the arrival from Bellefonte, Pa., of his intended bride, Calvin Huss, one of the end men in the Carlton Guy minstrels, went on to Springfield, Ohio, leaving word for the young woman, Mary Wyland, to follow him. She did so, but did not get here until afternoon. A marriage license was secured after the matinee at the New Sun theater, and they were married by Rev. Charles J. French just before the evening performance. Huss didn't have time to tell his fellows before the night show and they didn't find it out until a newspaper man came around to the theater the next day. — BRATTON.

OBITUARY

Thomas L. Sanford, formerly stage manager for Mrs. Fiske, died in New York March 18.

Amy Ellsworth, of the team of Charley and Amy Ellsworth, passed away March 21 at their residence, 95 E. 11th street, at St. Paul, Minn., aged 42 years. She was born in Berlin, Germany.

Paul Stanley, comedian and composer of the song Ta-Ra-Ra-Boom-De-A, is dead after a lingering illness in Denver. Stanley whose real name was Sonnenburg, had lived in that city with his wife since the San Francisco earthquake. He was reduced to straitened circumstances and his health was much impaired by the shock. He was 61 years old.

William A. Mahara, who has been identified with the minstrel business for more than a quarter of a century, died in Chicago March 15, as was briefly referred to in these columns last week. The news of his demise was a shock to all who knew him. He had been ailing for some time and an operation was advised by his physicians. It was while the operation was in progress that death came. William Mahara was born at Charles City, Iowa, forty-seven years ago. He started into the minstrel business at the age of 20. He began as agent and being young, ambitious and strictly reliable, he was soon advanced, and a few years later, organized his own attraction. He is survived by a wife, a son, John, and two brothers, Jack and Frank, who are also engaged in the minstrel business. The remains were taken to Charles City, Iowa, for interment. "Bill" Mahara, as the deceased was generally known, had a good word for everyone and had friends scattered from coast to coast. He has answered the last call and his next stand is "The Land of Peace and Rest."

INTERNATIONAL ITINERARY.

The campaigners for the International Projecting and Producing Company gave exhibitions at San Francisco last Wednesday, Thursday at Los Angeles, Saturday at Denver, and will continue with Monday at Kansas City, Tuesday at Little Rock, with New Orleans to follow.

SPIRIT OF THE PRESS.

Likes Chicago Productions.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Another of those Chicago productions, this time Honeymoon Trail, was presented at the Alvin and "made good." It is difficult for anything with a Chicago brand to get "time" in the East, but Pittsburg has now had The Time, The Place and The Girl, The Flower of the Ranch and Honeymoon Trail, and we have been immensely pleased with each. If we had more of the wild and woolly products, with such players as Alma Youlin, the pretty prima donna, possibly the box office receipts would pick up.

An Honest Confession.

(Pittsburg Gazette-Times.)

Pittsburg does not want and will not support for its own sake really artistic and broadly interesting and intelligent stage entertainment, whether it be of serious or humorous trend.

A Tip to Actresses.

(Baltimore Sun.)

Actresses who have stockings that need repairing may possibly be accommodated by sending them to Margaret Illington, who is getting a divorce from Daniel Frohman because he won't let her "darn his socks."

Missouri Breeze

E. E. Meredith, Editor.

(Office under the editor's hat.)

(The object of The Breeze is to entertain without making its readers fighting mad.)

Chicago friends of Fred Barnes are wondering what he did with the change, he received the other day at the Hungarian Inn, when dining with two beautiful young ladies. Some of the fellows around town even go so far as to speculate as to who paid for the meal.

After Nellie Revell had her Sunday showing in the newspapers and had the bill at the Olympic running smoothly observed to C. E. Kohl that she was feeling well and thought of taking a trip to the country for a few days. Mr. Kohl interrupted her by saying: "Yes, I have an invitation to the Ringling Brothers opening in New York myself, but I cannot see my way clear to attend."

Tunis F. Dean, manager of The Warrens of Virginia, is rather proud of his unique first name, and when a Toronto furrier addresses a circular to "Miss F. Dean" the manager of Frank Kennan was greatly annoyed. It is the custom of Toronto merchants to get the names of theatrical arrivals every Monday morning and the man sent out by this particular firm evidently interpreted "Tunis" as "Miss." Hereafter Mr. Dean will register in a more legible manner.

The New York Press can jump on Kilian & Erlanger all it likes, it can even roast William A. Brady, but when it prints this in its guide to amusements, Chicagoans are likely to take offense.

Broadway—Jack Barrymore and Sam Fisher in A Stubborn Cinderella. "T cents judiciously spent on the moving picture shows will give you better enjoyment than this fizzle can yield."

A press sheet, with the title Wire and Music, has a story concerning a manager who sent the song, "Don't Forget to Write Me every Day," to the president of one of his attractions, who was careless about sending reports to the New York office. Words and Music is it that the press agent misunderstood the manager and interpolated the song into the show. It was a peculiarly managed show, where the press agent, traveling a week or two ahead, had charge of the stage and interpolated songs into the play.

CAMEO KIRBY LOOKS LIKE A BIG SUCCESS

The Critics Speak of Farnum's New Vehicle As Successor to The Man From Home

Cameo Kirby, which was unsuccessful when produced earlier in the season by Nat Goodwin, has been rewritten and is now offered at the Studebaker by a company including Dustin Farnum, James Lackaye, and Gordon Johnstone, Richard Pitman, James Seeley, John Harrington, George Deyo, Donald Gallaher, Matt. B. Snyder, May Buckley, Nora Shelby, Maud Hosford, Ruth Lloyd, James Kendrick.

The production is under the management of Liebler & Co., who favor Chicago frequently in the first presentation of their plays and who are now offering Ada Lewis in The Head of the House at the Grand.

O. L. Hall says in The Journal: "The new play is good entertainment, and seems sure to become vastly popular, because its story concerns interesting and well contracted characters, because it is set in a period when life in the country in which the scene is laid was richly toned and worth living. Its characters are of the story book, it is true, but they admirably serve all the purposes for which they are used. The play is populated by as great a variety of striking figures as is The Man from Home, and while the Mississippi river gambler probably never will hit the fancy of the public as hard as did the Kokomo lawyer, he will hit it hard enough to remain a welcome visitor for a long time."

Buried among a lot of adjectives, Amy Leslie manages to say in the News: "The characters are finely drawn, clear and ingratiatingly picturesque and normal."

Constance Skinner says in the American: "In this piece it is evident that Liebler & Co., the managers, have a success—possibly as popular a play as The Man from Home, by the same authors."

NEW BOOKING AGENCY OPENED AT MILWAUKEE.

Milwaukee is quickly becoming a theatrical center. Its latest move in this line is the opening up of a booking agency under the name of the Northwestern Booking Agency, with offices in the New Star theater building for the sole purpose of catering to all lines in the amusement world. They have a circuit through the Northwest including Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota, which they are supplying with high class acts, offering them from five to fifteen weeks. This Agency is composed of John Schiappicasse, H. B. Atkinson and J. H. Yeo. These young men are well known in the theatrical business and are running the agency with a knowledge of all its branches. With the co-operation of managers in and around Milwaukee, it will be a great success.

THE ST. PAUL CRITICS ARE "BRAINLESS IDIOTS."

So Claimed Hilda Spong When They Roasted a Man and His Mate Which Played There Last Week.

St. Paul, March 24.

Hilda Spong, leading woman in A Man and His Mate at the Metropolitan last week, became very angry at the local newspaper critics and scored them as "brainless idiots" because they roasted her play. Miss Spong said she was sorry she had not ordered the curtain rung down when the gallery crowds laughed at her love scenes.

The play, A Man and His Mate, is taken from a story written by H. R. Durant, which recently appeared in the Popular Magazine. It has been out three months through the east and one night stands in the northwest. The play is not a strong one for an actress of Miss Spong's talents, as she is admittedly a great interpreter of emotional roles.—BARNES.

EARL BURGESS STOCK CLOSED SEASON SUNDAY

San Antonio, Texas, March 20.

It is understood that the management of the theater are negotiating with a musical comedy to open soon. The members of the Earl Burgess company will most likely scatter from here Monday, although it is said many will remain in San Antonio. Manager Fred Gillen will leave Monday for New York.—WILLEY.

Columbus, O., March 22.

The officers of the Ohio Film Exhibitors' Protective association will hold a meeting here March 24 to select a place for holding the next semi-annual meeting, on the second Wednesday in July. The choice will probably lie between Cleveland, Toledo or Sandusky.—GRAF.

Mary Mannering has been selected by the Shuberts for the leading role in The Truants, an English comedy which will be presented within a few weeks. Lena Ashwell had the chief part in London, where the play made a hit.

BERNARD L. WALLACE GETS DIVORCE DECREE.

Sum of $25,000 Was Originally Demanded
But a Compromise Was Effected and $50 Settled Claims.

Peru, Ind., March 24.
The divorce suit of Madge I. Wallace vs. Bernard L. Wallace, which has been pending in the Circuit Court for the past few months, has been adjusted by a decree in favor of the defendant on his cross-complaint, filed a few days ago, and a compromise between the interested parties in relation to alimony.

The plaintiff in her complaint, which was filed by Attorneys Kistler & Kistler, of Logansport, demanded judgment from the defendant in the sum of $25,000. She alleged some sensational charges against her husband and the case promised to be of much interest owing to the prominence of the parties. By the cross-complaint of the defendant he alleged cruel and inhuman treatment and abandonment.

Mrs. Wallace has been absent from Peru for several months, having gone to Logansport shortly before filing her proceedings for a separation. Her demand for alimony in the sum of $25,000 was compromised at $50. A few weeks ago it was stated in Logansport newspapers that a reconciliation had been effected between the parties and that they would go to housekeeping in a mansion in Ridgeway, this city. Mrs. Wallace is still residing at Logansport.

NO CIRCUS LICENSE HAS BEEN APPLIED FOR.

City of Cleveland Does Not Think It Will Be Passed Up, However, for Lot
Has Been Leased.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 22.
No application has been made to date for a circus license, but Clevelanders are not uneasy about the shows passing them up, for the circus grounds at Scranton avenue and Fairfield are leased to the interests which control three of the big shows and can be used at their pleasure. The municipal regulations in Cleveland are peculiar. A circus cannot stay longer than a day, giving two performances, and for this privilege a license of $300 is charged.

It is believed that the Barnum & Bailey show will appear here later in the spring. Either that or the Ringling Brothers' circus will include Cleveland in crossing Ohio in July when going from New England to the Pacific coast.—YOUNG.

Ringling's New Rhinoceros.

Baraboo, Wis., March 24.
Ringling Brothers have acquired a magnificent specimen of the bi-corned African rhinoceros. It is expected to arrive in New York in time for the opening. Last fall the Sumatran rhino, owned by Ringling Brothers, died and that animal is to be replaced by a finer specimen of the species.

The rhinoceros does not cost a great deal in its native haunts, but its capture and transportation across the ocean entails great expense so that by the time the new rhino will have arrived it will be a most valuable addition to the menagerie.

Building New Mansion.

Ponca City, Okla., March 25.
The construction of a fine private residence to replace the structure destroyed by fire in January is under way at 101 Ranch and within 90 days the three Miller brothers and their mother will have a comfortable home, the beauty of which will be another wonder place of the twentieth century fairland—101 Ranch.

To Get Busy.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 23.
Robert Stickney, Jr., and his wife Emily, who have been practicing at their ring barn in Walnut Hills, during the winter, left last week for New York, where they open with Ringling Brothers.

H. W. Dunlap Leaves for Denver.

H. W. Dunlap, who will be side show announcer with the Sells-Floto shows the coming season, passed through Chicago Friday of last week en route from Milwaukee to Denver. He has been at Milwaukee for several weeks at the bedside of his mother, who is very ill.

"BILLS LIKE A CIRCUS" NOW HAS NEW MEANING

Tented Enterprises No Longer Set the Pace in Advertising But Instead Incline Towards Economy.

"Bills like a circus" is an expression which should be allowed to lapse into desuetude.

Circuses do not use so much billing matter nowadays that they should be pointed out as the leaders among advertisers; the fact is that circus managers are growing more economical every year and the season of 1909 finds them more anxious to get out "light" in "paper bills" than to have the town and country decorated with gaudy posters.

The Ringling Brothers Show, a comparatively unknown quantity in New York, venturing into the east, where there is the least prejudice against western organizations, is said to have billed New York but two weeks before the opening and the newspaper work did not commence until such a late date that it was a matter of comment among press agents.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace Show played Brooklyn in June, 1907, and instead of billing New York City and making a national reputation for the show, the managers decided it was advisable to bill Brooklyn only. Not a mention of the show appeared in the New York newspapers nor did a bill appear in window or on the boards in the metropolis. The engagement was far from successful and it may have been an instance where economy was unwise.

The Barnum & Bailey show plays an engagement in Chicago beginning April 1 and the work of billing did not commence until Monday, March 22. Up to that time there had been three and one-half inches of reading matter (including heads) in the Post, Examiner, American and Tribune, less than two inches in the News, and one inch in the Record-Herald.

Instead of billing weeks in advance and having the newspapers filled with stories the management deemed it best to begin the billing less than two weeks in advance of the opening date and to be content with one Sunday's showing in the newspapers.

Circus managers think well of the new way of doing. They figure that hundreds of dollars have been wasted in the past in billing cities weeks ahead of the date and in playing up the show in the newspapers long before it was to come to the city. In the latter connection it is pointed out that it is possible to get up the enthusiasm too early and have it die out before the circus arrives.

The Sells-Floto show is starting out like it meant to break some records in the way of newspaper advertising. It is said that $1,500 was spent with the Denver newspapers for the engagement which opens in that city next Monday. Other shows of the same size are inclined to contribute as little to the coffers of the publishers as can be done and keep the newspapers in a good humor.

Five years ago advertising was based on the way circuses displayed billing matter. When it was stated that a theatrical attraction billed like a circus no greater compliment could be paid to management and advance agents. Nowadays things have changed and the expression will have to be coined to the effect that an attraction is billed like Harry Lauder for he obtained more publicity in Chicago newspapers, and newspapers throughout the country, for his recent tour of the important cities, than a circus has secured since the days of P. T. Barnum.

CIRCUS NOTES

Warren B. Irons will be legal adjuster with the Robinson show.

J. W. Nedrow goes with the Cole Brothers advance this season.

Tene Moore, the wire walker, will be with Cole Brothers the coming season.

Al. W. Martin, who is wintering at Peru, was a recent visitor at Indianapolis.

Arthur Hoffman, who will have the Hagenbeck-Wallace side show, was a recent visitor in Peru.

The rehearsals for the Sells-Floto opening indicates that the performance will be meritorious, according to advices from Denver.

The Ringling Brothers' Show plays Trenton, N. J., May 18, and the Buffalo Bill Wild West and Pawnee Bill Far East, Combined, shows there June 8.

The Fowler Brothers came down from Ludington, Mich., early in the week to buy some stock for the Wild West, which has its winter quarters there.

Harry Parish, formerly trainmaster with Sells-Floto, will be with Jerry Murgavin's Van Amburg show the coming season.

The Murray-Mackey company, of Warren, Ohio, is planning to put out a tent show this summer which will play Ohio territory for a period of 12 weeks.

Fred J. Warrell, of the Sells-Floto business staff, left South Bend, Ind., last week for Denver, Colo., where the show opens the season next Monday.

Jesse Caldwell, John Trotter and Clarence Wright, all three from Wichita, Kan., are to be on the No. 1 car of the Ringling Brothers' Show.

Phil Castang will be superintendent of animals with the Hagenbeck-Wallace show again the coming season. He is one of the best known animal men in the circus world.

Jim Little, chief cow puncher of the Fowler Brothers Wild West, was in Chicago early in the week en route for Ludington, Mich., where rehearsals begin April 10. The show will open in Michigan.

Verne Crawford is in his fifth season with Norris & Rowe, and handles the pasteboards as rapidly as any ticket seller in the business. He has had seasons with the Sells-Floto and Campbell Brothers shows.

Paul Gore, who has been bandmaster with the Campbell Brothers for the last three seasons, will occupy the same position this summer. He is only 26 years of age and has the reputation of being the youngest bandmaster in the circus world.

Councilman Edward W. Karamer, of Greenville, Pa., has purchased an interest in the Loudon and Tuttle circus, which has winter quarters there, and will travel with the show. It is claimed that it will be the largest wagon show on the road this season.

Pheeny Goes with Wallace.

Charles A. Pheeny, former manager of the Salida Opera house at Salida, Colo., and more recently connected with the Curtis and Baker theaters at Denver, and now connected with the business management of Murray & Mack, in The Sunny Side of Broadway, has signed with Hagenbeck-Wallace advance for the coming season, as mentioned in these columns two weeks ago. His position will be that of advertising inspector.

Henry Gilbertson at Fairbury.

Fairbury, Neb. March 23.
Henry Gilbertson, who will have the concessions with the Campbell Brothers and the Sells-Floto shows the coming season, stopped off here en route from Chicago to Denver.

$100 CIRCUS LICENSE WITHOUT A SIDE SHOW.

If There Is a "Kid" Show the License Is $250 According to An Ordinance Passed by Terre Haute Council.

In circus parlance Terre Haute, Ind., is and always has been a "rat" town. Everything which could possibly contribute to making a day's stay there unpleasant may be expected when a crowd bills Terre Haute, and yet the big shows make the city year after year, for there is a fairly good money there and it lies on the main line of an important railroad.

The city officials in Terre Haute are generally a wise bunch. The men who are on to the "tricks" which make politics successful.

That the "ring" knows its business is proven by the fact that grafting shows seldom attempt to work in Terre Haute. They think the ring would want more money for its "bit" than it is possible for the show to get there.

All this comes to mind from a new ordinance which has just been passed by the city council. It provides that circuses with side shows shall pay $250 a day license and circuses without sideshows $100 a day.

A side show is not expected to "take" anywhere near the amount of money that the "big show" gets and why it should pay more license than the circus itself is hard to understand. It is likely that the "ring" in Terre Haute has studied out some new scheme for annoying tented enterprises.

THE CURZON SISTERS ARE BACK IN AMERICA

Returned to New York Last Week After a Ten Months' Enjoyable Stay in England and on the Continent.

The Curzon Sisters arrived in New York on Tuesday night of last week after being abroad ten months. J. W. Curzon, their representative, accompanied them.

Their stay abroad was very pleasant, being marred only by legal difficulties. Mr. Curzon states that he was forced to bring suit in the courts of Berlin, also in Barcelona, Spain, and in turn was sued in Vienna, Austria, by the Marine Agency for commissions on engagements the Curzon Sisters were not allowed to play. He says he has won in the lower courts, but the cases can yet be appealed by the defendants.

The Curzon Sisters are delighted to be back in America. Joe says it is the real country for show business as well as most everything else.

Echo of Trixie's Death.

Webster City, Ia., March 23.
W. H. Barnes, of Sioux City, Ia., owner and educator of the celebrated educated horse, Trixie, which was recently killed in a wreck in Delaware, has brought suit against the railroad company for $100,000 damages. In resisting the claim the railroad company will base its claim for a smaller sum on the advanced age of the horse—21 years.—GEO. C. TUCKER.

Another Tented Enterprise Possible.

Webster City, Ia., March 24.
It is reported here that T. Nelson Downs (King of Kolns) and E. H. Martin of this city, will be on the road next season with a tented attraction. Mr. Martin is in Texas and other southern states just now, so the report cannot be confirmed. It is known, however, that Martin has been looking up a tent.—GEO. C. TUCKER.

Miller at Hot Springs.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 24.
George L. Miller, of the 101 Ranch Wild West, joined his wife here last week. George Miller managed the show for a time last year during the absence of his two brothers and is rapidly developing into a showman.

Wallace Buys Stock.

Peru, Ind., March 22.
B. E. Wallace has returned from Lexington, Mo., where he purchased three carloads of draught horses.

RINGLINGS SETTLE PERSONAL INJURY SUIT

Mrs. Clara Tarpening, Who Brought Suit for $20,000 Accepts $1200 and Case Is Stricken From Docket.

Mrs. Clara Tarpening, of Rockford, Ill., is said to have received $1,200 from the Ringling Brothers' circus in a settlement of a personal injury suit for $20,000 against the amusement company by the complainant for injuries received at the Aurora, Ill., Driving park on June 21, 1906.

The case was called before Judge Ben M. Smith in the Superior court in Chicago last week. Mrs. Tarpening was represented by Attorney B. P. Alschuler, of Aurora, Ill., while E. Allen Frost was attorney for the Ringling Brothers. The settlement is said to be satisfactory to attorneys for both sides so the case will be stricken from the docket.

Mrs. Tarpening was injured when a cyclone swept over the Driving park at Aurora during the afternoon performance of Ringling Brothers' circus. Two were killed at the circus grounds, one dropping dead from heart failure and the other being killed instantly when struck on the head by a swinging pole.

With a nursing babe in her arms Mrs. Tarpening was caught between the seats and badly injured, according to her attorneys. She was hurried to the St. Charles hospital in an ambulance, where she was treated. According to her attorneys she has never fully recovered from the injuries and today is a nervous wreck.

The case settled last week is the only one that was brought against Ringling Brothers as a result of the tornado. As it is now too late for any others to start suit, the settlement is of no value as evidence to any others who were injured while at the circus.

HOW McCREE STANDS IN HIS HOME TOWN.

Reno McCree, according to The Toledo Blade, "goes out with one or another of the three largest tented shows in the world and earns as much salary in a few months as the ordinary bank president earns in a whole year. Then, in the fall, Reno comes back to his home town, Toledo, and invests his earnings in real estate. He is a Toledoan, bred and born, and thinks there is not another settlement like it on the whole map, which he has seen pretty much all of during his professional career. If he cared to retire right now he might live pretty comfortably the rest of his days on the income of his present investments, and the proceeds from the sale of his circus equipment, which includes two of the most valuable ring horses in the world and a trick riding dog that he refused a small fortune for recently in Detroit."

WAR POSTPONED A DAY AS CIRCUS WAS IN TOWN

Citizens of Acapulco Defer Out-of-Doors Burlesque in Favor of Tented Performance.

San Francisco, Cal., March 22. The steamship Acapulco brings news that the war between Salvador and Nicaragua was postponed for one day in order that the citizens of Acapulco might enjoy a circus which was billed to play that town while the Acapulco was anchored in the harbor.

When the vessel first arrived martial law had been declared, and no one was permitted to land. But the circus came to town, and in less than an hour the martial law was declared off, so that the passengers might swell the attendance at the show.

Passengers on board the Acapulco report that the ships of the two warring states, reported to have been engaged in battle, have not been out of the harbors where they are stationed. They scout the idea that there will be any serious trouble in Central America.

The name of the circus now touring that section could not be learned.

Counties to Aid Fairs.

Carthage, Mo., March 17. A bill has been introduced, and will more than likely be passed by the Missouri legislature, authorizing the county court in certain counties to appropriate $1,000 to the premium fund of the county fair. This will apply to Jackson, Jasper and Buchanan counties for the present. —MACAULEY.

MRS. VERNON'S FACE
TORN BY BARNES' TIGER

DAMON'S OPENING DATE IS FINALLY DECIDED

Twenty-Two Stitches Taken in One of the Four Wounds, Yet Physicians Say She Will Be Little Scarred.

Col. M. H. Welsh Next to Owner in Command—Show Will Have Novel Advertising Schemes and Lady Press Agent.

Portland, Ore., March 22.

Mrs. Vernon, wife of Prof. Vernon, the ventriloquist, who was clawed by one of the royal Bengal tigers of the Barnes animal show while standing too near the cage at the Exposition grounds, was able to be removed to Denver last Thursday, where the husband appears this week. On the way she received medical attention at Billings, Mont.

Mrs. Vernon's face was terribly lacerated. She was placed on the operating table and, despite the fact that 22 stitches were taken in one of the four lacerated wounds, the attending physician expressed the opinion that she will be little scarred as the result of her harrowing experience.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon, accompanied by the Sisters De Faye, who are also on the Orpheum bill, went to the winter quarters of the Barnes animal show at the Exposition grounds in the forenoon. While the party was visiting the menagerie Mrs. Vernon stepped too near one of the cages in which tigers were housed. One of the brutes stretched its paw through a space between two bars and struck the woman on the face. While the animal may have intended it as a soft, affectionate stroke, the force of the "pet" tore and laid open the cheek of Mrs. Vernon the full length. She was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital, where she underwent treatment for her wounds and the shock accompanying the vicious attack of the giant cat.

Mrs. Vernon is a member of Altau Chapter, O. E. S., of New York city, and her husband is a member of a New York commandery. Learning of the unfortunate plight of their sister, the members of the Eastern Star in Portland showered her with flowers and toothsome dainties, and her room at the hospital resembled a combined horticultural exhibit and a flower show.—LARI-MORE.

known West Virginia coal operator. There is no such a circus as the All American. Whether or not the remainder of the list contains the names of tented enterprises which do not exist could not be stated without a waste of time in investigation.

Query: "Who is the greatest circus press agent of modern times?"

Answer: This question cannot be answered without danger of hurting the feeling of James J. Brady.

Query: "How many cars has the Greater Norris & Rowe Show?"

Answer: From information at hand the show has four passengers, eleven flats and seven stock cars.

Query: "Is it true that the Cole Brothers' Show opened at Atlanta, Ga., as stated in Variety last week?"

Answer: No. Variety was badly mixed up. Jerry Mugavin owns the show which opened at Atlanta. Variety has confounded the Cole Brothers with the Van Amburg Show.

FIRST SUNDAY JUMP
OF SEASON OF 1909.

Norris & Rowe, the First of the Larger Tented Enterprises, to Cover a Long Distance on the Day of Rest.

The first Sunday jump made by a circus of any considerable size during the season of 1909 was the run of the Norris & Rowe show from Monterey, Cal., to Ventura, March 14. The distance was 205 miles and the trip was made over the Southern Pacific, which has handled the show from the opening, with the exception of the jumps from Los Angeles to San Diego and San Diego to Santa Ana.

The season of 1909 opened at Santa Cruz, Cal., March 11, where the Elks contributed largely to making the performance such a wonderful success. The next day was Watsonville and the Saturday town Monterey. Sunday was the long jump and Monday the circus played Ventura. Long Beach was visited on Tuesday and the remainder of the week was spent at Los Angeles.

Monday and Tuesday of this week saw the show at San Diego and Wednesday it went to Santa Ana. The Thursday town was Riverside, and the Friday town San Bernardino. The circus is ending this week at Pasadena and goes to Bakersfield next Monday.

The show was organized in five weeks and H. S. Rowe, the manager, deserves a good word for the performance he has gotten together. The feature acts include: The Peerless Potters, the Baker Troupe of bicyclists, George Holland, Rose Dockrill and the Orton Troupe.

CAMPBELL BROTHERS TO SLIGHT FAIRBURY.

Fairbury, Neb., March 24.

Campbell Brothers Circus will open at Kansas City on the 17th of April, giving one week's show. This is the first time in the history of this show that it has not given its opening play at Fairbury. Al Campbell, one of the Campbell Brothers, who has been at Excelsior Springs for some time for his health, arrived home this week.—DENNEY.

Ringling Brothers' Features.

The Ringling Brothers' advertisements in New York played up the Saxon Brothers, Albert Schuman's horses, the double auto somersault, and the Patty Brothers. The Saxon Brothers had the best place in the ads appearing in Sunday papers.

Geneva, Ohio, March 24.

The opening date of the Howard Damon show has just been determined. It was not known till this week where and when the new tented enterprise would take the road. The first performance will be given at Geneva and the date will be April 24.

The work of preparing the circus for the road goes on rapidly and the entire direction of the show is being left to Col. M. H. Welsh, who is well qualified to assume the responsibility.

A number of young horses were bought recently, among them some thoroughbred Kentucky saddle horses from "Troupe A" of Cleveland. These horses are said to have been purchased in Kentucky especially for the inauguration and were sold at auction at the "Troupe A" Armory at Cleveland.

Wes F. Pike, formerly treasurer with the Hargreaves show, and the Frank A. Robbins show, is here and will be secretary and treasurer for Howard Damon. Frank B. Miller will be equestrian director and he and his wife and daughter are now at winter quarters practicing some new riding stunts.

Doc Minthorn will handle the press back with the show and it is said that the plan is to have a lady press contractor, one who can turn out feature stories as rapidly as the editors may desire them.

Charles Bachtel will lead the big show band and will also furnish a lady band for the side show. The big band will have 20 pieces, it is said, and the lady band 12 pieces.

A miniature calliope will be used on the advance car, it is claimed. Another new feature will be a moving picture machine to entertain the folks who gather at the car. The films relating to circus life will be displayed and if this scheme is really used it ought to prove good advertising.

The show will have a troupe of elephants, it is announced, and also performing horses, ponies and dogs, along with the usual circus features.

Rube Hanley has arrived at winter quarters and will make fun for the folks who attend the show the coming season.

FEATURE ACTS WITH BARNUM & BAILEY.

Many European Performers Will Make Their First American Appearance at the Coliseum.

Rehearsals are being held at the Coliseum in Chicago preparatory to the opening of the Barnum & Bailey show on April 1. The performers began arriving early this week and the circus came in from Bridgeport, Conn., on Wednesday, and many old friendships were renewed among performers and many new ones are being formed, for there are a number of acts which are seen in America for the first time.

It is believed that the circus performance to be given at the Coliseum will outrank that now being offered in New York. It is but natural that circusmen should put their best foot forward in their home city, and Chicago is practically the home of the men who now control the Barnum & Bailey show.

The acts which are to appear show that a number of old features are retained and a number of new ones secured. The list comprises:

Jupiter, the balloon horse, which was seen with the Barnum & Bailey show at the New York engagement of last year. Jupiter is a milk white stallion and goes up on a platform attached where the basket generally is on a balloon. The horse is ridden by Madame Raphael and the ascension carries her to the topmost part of the building where as a climax a battery of fireworks is discharged.

The musical elephants are being played up in the press notices. They play brass instruments. The act is similar to other elephant displays.

The autos which pass in the air is retained as a feature with the show this season and will be seen for the first time in Chicago.

Despardo will make his dare devil descent for the amusement of those who like excitement. He makes a 60 foot leap and lands on his chest on a plank platform.

Koynet's Riders and Horse Soldiers is a new feature from Europe. The circuses are bent on offering horse acts this year and Barnum & Bailey will probably have the best of the lot in this European display of equine training. Karoly's troupe of 16 black stallions is another European horse act and these are equine thespians, playing a pantomime. Cliff Berzac's comedy ponies and unriddable mules is another act which should be classed with the preceding. Still another pony act is the Court Titzze troupe of pony balloon polo players.

The Riders.

The list of riders includes: The Davenport, Mlle. Victoria, Miss May, Fred Derrick, D. W. Winslow, Gustav Kraft, Julia Lowande, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burton, Ella Bradna, and Miss Hullerman.

Among the acrobats are: Leamy Ladies, a new electric aerial act from Europe; Carroll Trio in high wire acrobatic feats; Troupe Paclacci, which comprises Italian novelty acrobats and gymnasts; Misses Revere, who offer novelty athletic feats; Five Les Perez, in a high wire balancing act; Hjalmar & Gustafson in feats of strength and balancing; Maltre & Theodora in an aerial novelty; The Leightons in an equilibristic and globe act; Three Sisters Meulin in feats of strength; Florenze Troupe of acrobats; Sisters Sereste, who are acrobats and gymnasts; Nettle Carroll in a wire act; Siegrist-Silboni troupe of aerialists with 15 members instead of 10 as offered last year; The Flying La Mars (six of them); The Neapolitans in an aerial act; Les Kelka, in a balancing number, Troupe La Faille in heavy weight balancing; Kirston & Maretta in acrobatic balancing, and the Trio Fassi in head balancing.

MILLER BROTHERS TO CLASH WITH BARNUM.

Danville, Ill., Gets the Wild West on May 8 and the Big Circus Just Three Days Later.

There is likely to be some hot opposition at Danville, Ill., where the Miller Brothers 101 Ranch shows on May 8 and the Barnum & Bailey show on May 11.

The Miller Brothers' representatives were in Danville last week arranging for billing space and it is thought the ground will be more bitterly contested owing to the fact that Edward Arlington, now one of the owners of the 101 Ranch, was railroad contractor for the Barnum & Bailey show before it changed hands.

The 101 Ranch has the advantage, as it gets in first. Being the smaller enterprise, it would have a discouraging chance were it following the big show in within three days.

The Nelson Family and the Bartick troupe will be with Sells-Floto, which is now rehearsing at Denver.

All is hustle around Yankee Robinson's winter quarters, as the show opens in Des Moines, Iowa, next Monday.

Jay Rial has been in Chicago for several days directing the press work for Barnum & Bailey's opening at the Coliseum.

R. M. Harvey and J. P. Fagan were recently at Peru, Ind., in conference with B. E. Wallace, who has decided to open the Hagenbeck-Wallace show on April 24.

The movement of the Ringling Brothers' Show from Baraboo, Wis., to Chicago cost $750 and the run from Chicago to New York cost $2,840, making a total of $3,590 for the run. The Barnum show paid $2,728 for the run on the New York Central from Brewster, N. Y., to Chicago and $672 for the movement from Bridgeport, Conn., to Brewster.

Three elephants were taken from Lake Charles, La., to Santa Cruz, Cal., for the opening of the Norris & Rowe show. They traveled in a 30-foot car and the jump cost $280.

The pictures of Barnum & Bailey have disappeared from the corners of the lithographs, where it has been customary for such likenesses to appear. It makes the bills look a little strange to showmen.

"Governor" John F. Robinson and his bride are making a pleasure trip through the south. He is greatly relieved to have the care of the Robinson show taken from his shoulders.

James R. Pepperdine has leased the candy stands and lunch car privilege with the Howard Damon Show. He is now in Geneva and will be there until the season opens.

On Friday ladies' night was celebrated, with all ladies being admitted free. On Saturday morning a special instruction school was run for school children. On and after Wednesday evening the charge for admission and skates was 25 cents. Ladies were admitted free.

Chicago, Ill.—In the mile handicap skating race held at Riverview recently, Nick Koch, starting from the 100 yard mark, won from Fred Tyrrell, who started from scratch. Charles Smith, with a forty yard handicap came in second and Frank Hennessey, who started from the sixty-five yard mark, was third.

Dayton, O.—George McWilliams, well known in this city and especially at the Lakeside rink as one of the fastest men in Dayton on skates, has entered in the racing tournament to be held at Indianapolis from March 16 to March 27. He will compete in the one-mile and three-mile events and in the finals, for which a prize of $70 is offered the winner.

Chicago, Ill.—Mort Wolf, manager of Sans Souci, held one of his original one-hour go-as-you-please events last Friday, which was very well patronized. The event probably proved the best attraction this enterprising manager has offered this spring and he so framed up the teams as to give Melzer and Garner a race for their lives.

Paterson, N. J.—The Auditorium rink was thronged to its doors March 16 with an interested crowd of roller skating enthusiasts when Professors A. R. Davis and Chuck Lyons gave an exhibition of fancy and trick skating. Both appeared in excellent form, their many stunts proving highly entertaining and it was with reluctance that they witnessed the last act of the exhibition.

Kansas City, Mo.—There will be a three weeks' roller racing event held at the Coliseum rink beginning March 29, and ending April 17, to decide the 1-2-3 mile distances, under W. S. A. sanction. The event promises to be the best ever held and it will be the first ever held in this part of the country. The entries include: Rodney Peters, Leo Jones, Terrel Peters, Clarence Hamilton, Midge Sherman, Jack Woodward, Roland Cioni, Frank Bacon, Frank Flanner and Joe Munch.

Kansas City, Mo.—Four teams finished in the six-day roller skating race here at the Hippodrome. Bradbury and Stewart won by two laps. The total distance was 457 miles 2 laps. They were leading one lap with the going started yesterday and gained another lap in the twenty-second mile when one of the skaters fell. Brennan and Cosley, the Hippodrome team, finished second; Pace and Murdock, third, and Smith and Hunter fourth. The other teams quit.

Milwaukee, Wis.—A meeting of the Western Skating Association will be held Friday night at the Plankinton house club-rooms. Officers for this body will be selected, and the Wisconsin Skating Association will pass out of existence. The Wisconsin organization will hold its last race Thursday night when the two-mile city event is pulled off. The new body will take hold of the one-hour endurance race which will be Saturday night at Riverview rink.

Marysville, O.—The first roller contest between Michael Hillery, of Delaware, and Thomas Murray, of this place, took place last night. Murray was beaten in the mile and a half race by about eighteen inches. The time was 4 minutes and 20 seconds. During the contest Murray passed his opponent four times, but at the last was unable to maintain the lead. The pair will race again here on Thursday night.

Denver, Colo.—Roller skating contests have been the chief sporting events in Silverton during the winter. At the Ennis & Haas rink a series of two-mile races, running since early in January, closed Tuesday evening, March 9. Horace Henry, a Silverton boy, won the final in 10 minutes and 5 seconds. It took sixty-six laps to make the distance. Ennis and Haas, managers of the rink, challenge any skater of Colorado for $100 a side to race Henry on the Silverton for a distance of two miles.

Cincinnati, O.—Frank Bacon, of Pittsburgh, and William Blackburn, of New York, both of whom claim the one-mile championship on roller skates, will meet in

A "CUTE" SOUBRETTE IS FRANKIE DREW.

FRANKIE DREW.

Frankie Drew, who is playing Mabel Harrison's part in The Flower of the Ranch at the National this week, contributes much towards the general enjoyment of the play, and her work during the season has brought her into quite a great deal of prominence. The critics in the west were so taken with her portrayal of the title role of this musical comedy that Chicago managers were on the lookout for her. Those who have made the long trip to the National have been more than repaid, for she is at once funny and fascinating, the first quality being obtained without the aid of the usual fantastic makeup which comedy actresses in similar roles often depend upon. Miss Drew's personality and her stage presence are greatly aided by a voice far above the average in strength and quality.

Miss Drew can best be described as "cute." She has an ingenious way of winning the good will of an audience and her charm of manner provides that essential quality necessary in the establishing of popular stars.

Boosting Benefit.—The many friends of Ben Giroux and George W. Irish are boosting their benefit at the Criterion next Sunday night.

Cowboy and Thief Organized.—The Cowboy and The Thief, organized by Rowland & Clifford to fill next week at the Academy, includes in its cast: Frank Moore, J. Wendell Davis, Leroy Lewis, J. Irving Southard, George H. Howard, Ed Walton, Joe Burk, Jack Beach, Walter Fenner, Van Murrell, Katherine Crego and Georgiana Eddings.

McDonald is Rich.—George E. McDonald, late of the Klimt & Gazzola forces, fell heir to $10,000 left him by a rich uncle in Limerick, Ireland.

Bertha Julian Leaves City.—Bertha Julian left the city Tuesday to join The Cow Puncher.

Distributed Ladies' Tickets.—The strolling actors are talking about the distribution of ladies tickets for the Bijou by George McDonald and it is claimed that he was conscientious at all times. The improving business at the house is thought to be largely due to his efforts.
